Appointee Is An Instructor At Capuchino

Served S.S.F. Planning Unit

Adolph C. ("Bud") Harrison, a Capuchino High School teacher, yesterday was appointed to the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors.

The appointment was made by Governor Brown to fill the vacancy created by the resignation effective March 1 of long-time Second District Supervisor Edward R. McDonald, 80.

Harrison will have to run at the primary election June 7. The post is filled by the county at-large.

In announcing the appointment, the governor stated that he had carefully reviewed the records of all the six candidates for the position.

"They are an outstanding group of people and it has been extremely difficult to make this choice," the governor said. "I am particularly impressed with Bud Harrison's thorough understanding of the issues and problems in San Mateo County and the Bay Area."

Harrison, a native of San Francisco, is 35. He has been a teacher at Capuchino High School in San Bruno for the past nine years.

Harrison received a bachelor of science degree and teaching credential from the University of San Francisco. He has also studied at George Washington, D.C. He has taught at College of San Mateo and at the extended day division of the College of San Mateo.

He is a member of the California Teachers' Association and the National Congress of Parents and Teachers. From 1959 to 1961 he was a member of the South San Francisco Planning Commission.

He has been active in the United Bay Area Crusade.

Sullivan Is In Race For Congressman

Mark Sullivan yesterday predicted he will win the Democratic nomination for the Eleventh Congressional District in June, and that he only needs 10,000 good Democrats at the polls in November to beat Republican Congressman J. Arthur Younger.

Sullivan made the comment this morning while announcing his candidacy at a press conference in the Brentwood Lodge at South San Francisco.

He said he is shooting for the broad spectrum of progressive middle-of-the-road voters to choose him rather than either Edward Keating, who already has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination, or Younger.

Then he outlined his campaign as "six positive pledges" to the voters of San Mateo County.

Sullivan pledged, first, to make available to the public on a regular basis a complete record of all his roll call votes together with a statement of the reasons why he voted.

D.C. EDUCATOR OFFERS PREDICTION

Children Start School at Age Eight?

"Children will start to school at age 8 or 9 instead of 5. . . . They will complete high school at age 21. . . . Our schools will serve about 80 per cent of the population daily, rather than the present 40 per cent."

These changes in education were among many startling concepts envisioned by Jefferson Elementary School District Supt. Frank Greenwood in a luncheon speech before the Daly City Rotary Club.

Greenwood also praised Daly City voters for their foresight in approving last month's $13.5 million bond issue for Jefferson Elementary and High School Districts. He suggested that a look into the future of education might help find solutions to social, growing problems.

Among these problems, Greenwood said, are the effects of automation, increased competition for jobs by youths, more leisure time, high school dropouts, and the dilemma of youngsters who are "too young to marry, not old enough to work."

"Education or the public schools of this nation are the only institutions that can find an acceptable solution to these problems," the superintendent declared.

Using an admittedly "extremely cloudy" crystal ball, Greenwood noted what he believes will be three major functions of future schools.

"First," he said, "they will educate youngsters in the basic fundamental tools of learning, which are essential to communication."

"Their second major function will be to re-educate the adult population of this nation, who will be displaced by automation."

"Third, they will serve as community centers for the cultural and recreational activities of the communities in which they are located." In short, said Greenwood, "The schools will have to lead."

One possible solution to the problem of idle young-adult hours would be a later start in school, Greenwood suggested, and a longer trip through the educational system.

He speculated on an arrangement that would have high school students graduate at age 21, adding, "The high school, of course, will be similar in name only. Ninety-five per cent of the curriculum other than the basic fundamental tools of learning, will be new, and does not now exist in our present programs."

With older students in our schools, Greenwood said, there will be more need for training in such areas as home economics and child care.

Greenwood emphasized his belief that the nation's increased leisure time will demand that (Please See Page 2, Column 2)

Ex-Refugee Is Elected YR Leader

Daly City Man Gains Post

A former Yugoslavian refugee who now lives in Daly City is the new president of the Young Republicans.

Michael Djordjevic, an insurance man, of 32 Caroline Way, was elected, 140 to 100, over Robert Sprinkel of Los Angeles.

Jerry Ducote of San Jose had been a candidate but threw his support to Djordjevic after the first ballot.

Djordjevic said he favors a declaration of war in Viet Nam, withdrawal of the United States from the United Nations and the candidacy of Ronald Reagan for governor of California.

Following the election, Djordjevic said the voting "was in the best American tradition of tolerance."

He said the "tale of the Republicans not being for minorities is bunk." He cited his own background as proof of that assertion.

He commented that he favors (Please See Page 2, Column 7)

Student Is Fatally Hurt By Gunshot

By JOHN HORGAN

A Daly City junior high school student shot himself in the head Monday morning with his brother's .22-caliber rifle and died later at Mary's Help Hospital.

Conflicting reasons for the death were given by the San Mateo County coroner's office and the boy's mother.

Joseph McPheters, deputy county coroner, said Gerald Kurkjian, 14, of 201 Lincoln Avenue, Daly City, committed suicide because he "felt pressure at school (Benjamin Franklin School) to do things he did not feel were right in order to be accepted."

The coroner said that the boy called his mother yesterday at 10 a.m. at her job and told her that he was not going to school.

Mrs. Kurkjian, according to the coroner, told her son that she would come and get him (Please See Page 2, Column 4)

Wet Start for Pump Station

Water is not—repeat, NOT—one of Daly City's most pressing problems.

One look (above) at city officials and the president of a construction firm breaking ground for the Daly City Water Department's new Westlake pumping station ought to convince even the most skeptical.

Not only did Daly City's finest dedicate the pumping plant, (which was water enough for one day's work) but they also had to bear a torrential rain in the process.

Undaunted, the group (left to right: William Indig, president of the Winn Construction Company of Orinda; Edward Frank, city manager; Arthur Reschke, city engineer; and George Alphin, water supervisor) braved the downpour and came through the deluge with nary a sniffle.

There is no truth to the rumor that the quartet floated away from the scene of the ground breaking in an ark skippered by a gentleman named Noah.

E. J. McGuire Is Appointed As Controller

Edward J. McGuire Jr., assistant county controller since 1965, was appointed controller yesterday to succeed Ira A. Boynton, who died unexpectedly Sunday night.

McGuire, 32, of 500 Beech Avenue, San Bruno, was formerly tax collector of the city of San Bruno. His late father served on the San Bruno City Council for 26 years and was mayor for several terms.

County Clerk John A. Bruning swore McGuire into office yesterday morning within minutes of his unanimous appointment by the County Board of Supervisors.

County Manager E. R. Stallings noted that McGuire meets all three of the specified qualifications for the job, any one of which is sufficient to hold the position, in that he is a licensed public accountant, is a graduate of a school of accounting and has served as a deputy controller and auditor for at least three years.

"He is ably qualified for the job," Stallings said.

McGuire and his wife, Gloriette, have two daughters, Mrs. Nannette McGrath of Burlingame and Lynnette, 10, a student at St. Robert's School in San Bruno.

STATE BOARD ACTS THIS WEEK

Review Group Okays Unity Within Jeff High District

Unification of five North County school districts within the area comprising the Jefferson Union High School District was approved last week by a special state-appointed review committee.

The proposal will now be sent to the State Board of Education, which is expected to approve the plan and put it to a vote of residents in the five districts in June.

Unification of the high school district had been recommended by state school officials. The unified area, in addition to the high school district, would include the Bayshore, Brisbane, Jefferson and Laguna Salada Elementary School Districts.

The plan will be considered by the state board together with two other San Mateo County proposals approved by the review committee—unification of the Sequoia and San Mateo High School Districts.

The state board will meet in Los Angeles this week. A place on its agenda has been reserved for consideration of the county proposals.

Last night's approval of the North County plan came after a hearing held by the review committee in the Little Theatre of Westmoor High School in Daly City.

About 50 persons, including city councilmen, members of school boards and teachers, attended the session. A heavy majority of those who spoke favored unification of the high school area.

The only other plan the committee was legally empowered (Please See Page 2, Column 1)

Fog Almost Steals Show At Meeting of Committee

Fog almost stole the show last week at a meeting of a state review committee, studying unification of North County Schools.

Educators and committee members spent almost as much time talking about the North County's fog as they did about pupil enrollment, industrial tax bases and size of unified districts.

The committee ultimately voted to recommend a plan unifying the Jefferson High School District.

The discussion about fog was triggered by Mrs. Ruth Boudi-not, chairman of the Laguna Salada Elementary School District in Pacifica, who spoke in support of a plan that would split the Jefferson Union High School District and leave Laguna Salada by itself.

Mrs. Boudinot claimed that unifying the high school district—rather than splitting it—would make it necessary for students to be transported through a "fog barrier" to get from one area of the unified district to another.

This barrier, she said, exists in the area of Skyline Boule-

Citizens' Report

Crowd Raps Jeff Bussing Suggestions

By BERENICE PALMER

An angry crowd of more than 400 persons Monday night protested a citizen's committee recommendation that pupils be transported from Westmoor High School to Oceana and Jefferson High Schools.

The recommendation was presented by the district's School Attendance Boundary Study Committee at a meeting of the board of trustees in the cafeteria of Oceana High School.

The crowd, consisting mostly of parents from the Westlake area, filled the cafeteria.

They objected primarily to a recommendation that about 300 pupils be transported from Westmoor, which is now considered overcrowded, to Jefferson.

Ralph Galloway, a teacher at Jefferson, told the board:

"Bigotry takes many faces.

You are not really concerned about all these problems you've brought up in moving your children. What you are really worried about is their going to school with children of another race."

"If I didn't know where I am, I could swear I was in Mississippi tonight."

Nearly 30 per cent of the Jefferson High School population is made up of minority groups.

The committee in its report had recommended shifting (Please See Page 2, Column 4)

Sport coupes with power extras and other accessories shouldn't be used by public bodies, trustees of the Jefferson Elementary School District agreed Monday night after a spirited debate over replacement of two district vehicles.

Aid Is Set For Pacifica Intersection

The intersection of Hickey and Skyline Boulevards in Pacifica has qualified under state highway traffic standards for a traffic signal and highway lighting.

A daily traffic count at the intersection has shown an excess of 5,000 vehicles per day, City Engineer Kenneth Thompson will report at a meeting of the City Council tonight.

Another intersection however, at Hewitt and Coast Highway in Rockaway Beach, does not meet state standards for traffic control, Thompson will report.

This intersection, which residents of both the Jefferson Union High School and Laguna Salada Elementary School Districts say is hazardous, will be discussed at the meeting.

Thompson also will report on his recommendations to the Division of Highways for Hickey and Skyline.

They include a hand-actuated (Please See Page 2, Column 3)

S.S.F. Asks Bay Crossing Near Airport

By DENIS WADE

The South San Francisco City Council went on record Monday night in favor of a convention center located "near the airport," and against a new bay crossing located near India Basin in San Francisco.

The convention center has been proposed as a way of bringing people and trade into San Mateo County.

It would be financed by a county-wide hotel and motel tax, if proposals made last month at a County Council of Mayors meeting are adopted.

The unanswered question is (Please See Page 2, Column 7)

Jefferson Unity Okayed By Group

to consider was a proposal that would split the high school district into two parts: one comprising the Laguna Salada District and the other comprising the Bayshore, Brisbane and Jefferson Elementary Districts.

This plan had been twice rejected by the state board. The second rejection led to the appointment of the review committee.

The committee's vote in favor of unification of the high school district was unanimous.

James Tormey, San Mateo County schools superintendent and one of the committee's six members, noted in support of the plan that a State Assembly group had reported that "tiny and small districts do significantly poorer than larger districts."

Committee member Mrs. Lucille Mauzy who serves on the Contra Costa County School Board said that the Jefferson High School District "has proven itself very successful."

"I think it's time people have a chance to show at the polls what they think."

During 45-minute discussion periods allotted to proponents of both plans, only one person spoke in behalf of the split-district proposal while 10 spoke in favor of the state-supported plan.

The split-district's champion was Mrs. Ruth Boudinot, chairman of the Laguna Salada District's Board of Trustees.

She said that splitting the high school district would meet all the requirements of unification set down by the state.

"I think it's quite accurate to say that no one has challenged this fact," she declared.

Mrs. Boudinot said "exceptional circumstances" required by the state before it would approve splitting a high school district exist in the case of the Laguna Salada area.

These, she said, include the danger of traffic accidents in fog that covers routes she said students would have to take in getting from some areas of the unified high school district to another.

Support for the state plan was led by James Cooper, vice chairman of the board of trustees of the Jefferson High School District.

He distributed copies of a district resolution to members of the review committee, outlining ward and the Edgemar Freeway (Routes 1 and 5) and creates a "serious traffic hazard."

Albert Haven, principal of Portola School in Pacifica, supported Mrs. Boudinot's contention. He declared:

"The state highway division says this intersection (Routes 1 and 5) has the worst fog conditions in the state."

The element of fog as a deterrent to high school area unification, however, was vigorously attacked by Pacifica city councilmen, school board officials and members of the review committee.

Mayor James Fox of Pacifica said "I don't intend to let this supposed fog barrier fog up the issue."

He said fog was not a barrier to transportation nor was it a barrier to communication within the city or between communities. "It is not a major problem," he emphasized. And he added:

"I don't think this fog problem should be made into a mountain when it's only a molehill."

James Cooper, vice chairman of the board of trustees of the Jefferson High School District, remarked that he had commuted from his home in Pacifica to San Francisco on Greyhound buses since 1951.

"To my knowledge, there have been no accidents because of fog. We (the high school district) use Greyhound buses for the transportation of students and the safety record is 100 per cent there, too."

Dale Buttgenback, a member of the Laguna Salada board who said he favored unification of the high school district, denied that a fog problem exists.

He noted that Laguna now transports some 200 students each day and there hasn't been a problem with fog.

signal, presence of a State Highway traffic control officer during rush hours and weekends or a flashing advance warning sign for the pedestrian crossing.

"We feel," Thompson wrote in a letter to the State Highway Division, "that state employees have been relying too heavily on statistical data and not on actual observation of the situation."

The Laguna Salada district, in supporting Thompson's recommendations, states in a letter to the City Council that school buses have to cross the highway six times daily to avoid foot passage of children across the intersection.

City support of the El Mar Transit (Little Red Bus), which serves Pacifica, also will be discussed.

John Cushing, owner of the bus line, is asking $400 financial support in order to provide complete service.

A number of letters have been received by the city from residents, expressing approval for the new bus service and asking that the city provide some financial support.

Among ordinances and regulations for approval tonight will be one regulating quarries and another supporting establishment of a state college.

ninth, tenth, and eleventh grade students from Westlake subdivisions 1 and 2, part of Broadmoor and Garden Village, out of Westmoor to Jefferson.

Although the audience was assured by Board Chairman Elio Fontana that the committee's report is only a recommendation to the board and that public hearings will be held March 7 and 21, parent after parent subjected the committee to a barrage of criticism.

Aaron Zweig of 48 Northgate Avenue, Daly City, called the report a "railroading job," and stated angrily that: "We're here to be heard out."

Trustee Raymond Milton pleaded with the audience to respond "out of reason rather than emotion. The report is only a suggestion," he said.

Albert Teglia, chairman of the boundary committee, said the report was made by residents representing the entire high school district.

This contention was challenged by Joan Lunders of Daly City who said she felt that the areas most concerned were not represented by anyone on the committee.

Although 300 children also would go to Oceana from the Westmoor area under plans proposed by the committee, the audience complaints centered around Jefferson High School.

and drive him to school. When she got home about 10 a.m., she found him in the basement.

He died at 11:30 a.m.

Mrs. Kurkjian, whose husband is employed as a sales manager by the George S. May Company and was flying back to Daly City from Europe this morning, gave a different version of the tragedy.

"Gerald was under no pressure at school," she said. "He was playing with his brother's gun and it went off, that's all."

She went on to say that "he was an 'A' student and was not despondent at all."

She said that "there was nothing to lead him to this kind of thing. He was liked at school. He was quite responsible."

According to the boy's mother, he had asked to be placed in a military academy just a week ago: "He told us that he thought students ought to be more loyal to their country, their parents and their school but that he was helpless to do anything about it."

She said her son had stayed home from school Monday "because he had a sore throat."

She discounted a report that he had been involved in "hoodlum" activities at school. "The students at his school are good students,"

Benjamin Franklin School Principal Harry Aaronson said he also felt that any evidence of a possible "gang" element was entirely lacking.

"I can't believe that there were any organized gangs that would cause the boy to take his own life," he said, and he added:

"I don't believe that such a situation exists in the school. We here are at a loss for words. We plan to do some investigating ourselves."

Gerald is survived by his brother, James, 15, a sister, Judith, 19, in addition to his parents.

Westmoor High School enrollment is now over its state-rated capacity.

Some of the comments from parents were:

"My children will be separated from where they grew up. School money should be spent for education, not transportation. I'm afraid of the racial stress on my children. I don't want my children uprooted. It will cause psychological damage to my children."

Joseph Friedman of 82 North Mayfair Avenue, Daly City, commented:

"We will exile 300 children to a school (Jefferson) that is substandard. We are the highest-paying taxpayers and our children will be going to a school where they will become the minority."

Clyde Rosman of Daly City described Jefferson as "the crumb of the crop."

District Supt. Edward D. Morgan stated that all district high schools were educationally comparable.

He commented that perhaps much of the dissatisfaction was due more to a feeling of school pride for Westmoor rather than prejudice toward Jefferson students.

Eldred Smith, a Daly City industrial arts teacher who described himself as being "from one of the victimized areas," made a strong plea for a vocational program that could incorporate federal funds.

"The citizens committee had opposed a trade school because it would attract mostly minority group students. The group recommended only comprehensive high schools."

Saby Eliachar of 15 Rockford Avenue, Daly City, stated: "School is to educate, not to perform any social experiments."

perintendent in charge of business, said that specifications had included power brakes, whitewall tires and other options on a Chevrolet sport coupe.

He told trustees that such a car would have a higher resale value and could be disposed of faster upon trade-in than a "stripped down" model.

Trustee Peter Galiano led a chorus of dissent from the board when he inquired: "Isn't it unusual for a public agency to have a car like this?"

Replied Barthuli: "The feeling is that these vehicles would be easier to dispose of when they're turned in."

Trustee George Perry remarked that "there are many firms that are more affluent than school districts. They don't buy cars like these. It seems to me the more gadgets, the more maintenance."

Board chairman Thomas Noonan said that the board had not been informed of the bid specifications that went to suppliers and asked the administration to supply such information in the future before the bids went out.

The administration had proposed to replace two 1961 model cars. Barthuli said both were in "fair" condition but would need repairs in the future.

Bids had been received from Chevrolet and Pontiac dealers. In other business, the board heard a report that contract negotiations between the Greyhound Corporation and its drivers could lead to a strike that would leave the district without bus transportation for about 5,000 pupils.

Barthuli said that the contract between the company and the drivers expires March 2.

Galiano commented: "I think that word should be got out to parents that a possibility exists that the district will be losing its transportation." Suggesting that alternate bus transportation be arranged, he added: "Walking to school is a bit unrealistic."

Perry echoed his observation when he declared: "We'd better move on this. Otherwise you've got a real problem."

The board directed the administration to study alternate transportation plans and report back at its next meeting.

In other action, trustees debated the merits of an emergency leave policy the state has directed all school districts to adopt.

a Young Republican organization "completely independent" of the senior GOP and asserted that the YR's should act as "the conscience of the GOP by taking strong positions on issues."

In concluding their convention, the YR delegates approved a lengthy platform condemning excess spending on welfare programs and government projects and high taxes for public schools. They also advocated a reappraisal of labor legislation. One section of the platform asked for a reduction of income tax for people who "do not wish to be compelled to use tax-supported schools."

where the convention center would be built. Redwood City representatives say the county seat is the logical location. Daly City points out that the Cow Palace is already there.

South San Francisco councilmen, noting that most convention center users would arrive via San Francisco International Airport, unanimously passed a resolution favoring a site near the airport—which, of course, is near South San Francisco.

In another resolution, the council voted to write a letter to Governor Brown, protesting a plan of the State Division of Bay Toll Crossings to construct a new bay crossing near India Basin.

Councilman Andrew Rocca declared that a crossing at Serrano Point would not only save money, but would be more convenient for Peninsula travelers as well.

program are still to be announced.

More than 600 boys are competing for invitations to the sports night, which is the half-way point in a Hall of Fame circulation contest that features as first prize four trips to the San Francisco Giants spring training camp in Phoenix, April 2-3.

Other newspaperboy awards included in the Hall of Fame contest are 25 tickets to the Giants' first Sunday home game and 21 invitations to a Giants' banquet.

Two of the 1965 Phoenix trip winners, Tom Goodier and Albert Da Valle, will be special guests at the sports night.

Negro History Week Planned in D.C.

Rev. Kenneth Hansen, and Rev. Clifford S. Droke. A public program will be held at the Second Baptist Church at 175 San Diego Avenue, Daly City, with Reverend Bryant presiding at 8 p.m. on February 17. A Negro history workshop will be conducted at San Francisco State College at noon on Saturday, February 19. (Post-Times Photo)

S.S.F. 'Clean Town' Drive Gains Trophy

Robert Lamberton, chairman of South San Francisco's national award-winning "Cleanest Town" committee will go to the nation's capital Tuesday to accept a trophy from Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, Mayor Frank Bertucci has announced.

South San Francisco, in competition with all other cities and towns throughout the country, was judged as having one of the most outstanding clean up-paint up-fix up campaigns in the United States.

Its scrapbook record entry in the National Cleanest Town Achievement Award Contest won it a beautifully engraved trophy, to be presented to Lamberton, at the awards ceremony, honoring the winning cities.

South San Francisco, along with the 23 other national winners, divided evenly in two categories, will compete for the Irigg trophy, the "National Award of Excellence." This will also be presented by the wife of the President at the dinner.

Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall will speak at the event.

South San Francisco, in four annual campaigns, has twice won lesser awards — a plaque and a trophy.

This past year, however, its entry immediately caught the attention of Mrs. Johnson, who wrote a commendatory letter to the mayor.

Bertucci yesterday lauded the work of the special committee, the various city departments, and of the citizens and youth at large for their efforts and enthusiasm to make their city beautiful.

He cited a parade, several meetings, and conscientious work that had advanced the program.

According to contest headquarters, the city won for its campaign of one month.

"This campaign was highlighted by a most imaginative 'Public Hearing on Community Improvement' which resulted in the many projects later begun," the judges said.

"In addition, the work of the Fire Department in inspections and demonstrations was noted, as well as the formation of a Mayor's Committee on Civic Improvement."

Pacelli Sets Special Week

The mayor of Daly City, Francis P. Pacelli, has proclaimed the week of February 14 to February 21 as "Youth in Government Week" in Daly City.

During this time students of the local high schools will serve in a representative capacity as public officials.

Preliminary to this week the students will attend policy making meetings, learn about city government organization and meet with the mayor, city manager and department heads.

During "Youth in Government Week," students will spend six to eight hours with their counterparts and attend a council meeting.

Experience has indicated that both the city officials and the students involved profit greatly through this experience.

Industrial Art Classes Are Offered

Adults who like to do it themselves still have a chance to enroll in one or more of the many industrial arts courses being offered this semester by the Jefferson Union High School District Adult Division.

Available are such courses as auto shop, woodshop, machine shop, welding fundamentals, basic electronics, basic electricity and appliance repair, and drafting (which includes mechanical drawing and blueprint reading).

Machine shop (Jefferson, Tuesdays, room 302) includes an introduction to the elementary use of metal shop tools and equipment, and instruction on the use of lathes and related shop equipment and tools. Student projects are used to illustrate shop problems.

Basic electronics (Westmoor, Tuesdays, Shop Room) deals with both theory and laboratory work in fundamental concepts of electronics, including DC-AC theory and vacuum tube theory as needed for understanding of radio and TV circuitry.

For details on all industrial arts classes, prospective students may visit any of the district's schools (except Oceana, which does not have industrial arts classes) or inquire at the district office, PL 5-1666, about an available brochure.

Discussion Is Planned By Pacificans

Mark Mancall, co-author of the Quaker report, "A New China Policy," will discuss his book with members and guests of Pacificans for Human Concern at a seminar-meeting Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Pacifica Library.

The book presents a new approach toward Communist China from the Quaker point of view and is published by the Yale University Press.

A public debate on Vietnam, which had been scheduled for February 18 in the Community Room of the Pacifica Library, has been postponed until March because of commitments of one of the speakers, Don Duncan.

Mrs. Frances Power, president of Pacificans for Human Concern, said that anyone in the community who has read "A New China Policy" or who

Free Phone Calls Set

Free telephone calls to any point in the United States will be awarded to shoppers in the Westlake Shopping Center today through Sunday.

Pacific Telephone has set up a trailer on the center mall, with exhibits and demonstrations of telephone equipment that dates back to the days of Alexander Graham Bell and that is expected to be used in the future.

Visitors to the exhibit will be eligible for free phone calls to be given away every hour during shopping hours.

The telephone exhibit is part of the Westlake Center's "Sweetheart Days" Valentine's Day celebration.

D.C. Mayor Proclaims Negro Week

Daly City Mayor Francis Pacelli has announced that the week of February 13 through 20 will be "Negro History Week."

In his proclamation, the mayor said that "the citizens of the United States are once again proud to recall that the Negro people have made contributions of incalculable worth to the welfare and progress of our democracy."

The mayor went on to say that "the history of the American Negro is a vital part of all history of America."

He concluded by stating: "The history of the Negro people speaks eloquently of the numerous contributions which have improved and advanced the society as a whole."

By LE PACINI

HAVING DEALT WITH politics last week (President Johnson's comparing the integrity of nations with football), we see no reason why we shouldn't go all the way and speak out this week on what some people consider a religious matter.

We're talking about the recent affiliation of Cleveland's great fullback, Jimmy Brown, with the Cassius Clay group, Main Bout, Inc.

Brown, whose main duty for the organization will be public relations, says that he's interested mainly in promoting investment opportunities for the Negro community through Main Bout, Inc., and the fact that it will be dominated by Black Muslims (Clay, Elijah Muhammad's son, Herbert) means "nothing." Brown says he'll work with anyone to further a good cause, and that the religion of the men with whom he's to work doesn't enter into the picture.

Brown is right. Religion should mean nothing in business dealings. That's if you assume that the Black Muslims are a religious sect. In our opinion, they're as religious as the Ku Klux Klan.

We somehow get the feeling that certain promoters are taking advantage of Brown's fervor to do a good thing for their own interests.

We personally feel that Brown is degrading an image which, untarnished, could do much more good for his people in another endeavor.

SUPREMACY OF THE NFL over the AFL may have finally been graphically proven this past season by two quarterbacks, Craig Morton and Joe Namath. Namath, you may remember, was Rookie of the Year and adjudged Most Valuable Player in the AFL version of the Pro Bowl game, and all with a bad knee.

Craig Morton was no more than a second, at times third string qb with Dallas of the NFL.

Yet, as a collegian, Morton set as many passing records, made as many All America teams as did Namath, and did it all with a team which played a tougher schedule than Namath's Alabama, a team which didn't give Morton nearly the support Alabama gave Namath.

There just can't be that much difference between two quarterbacks only one year later, so the difference must lie in the respective football leagues.

WE READ RECENTLY where Giant coach Cookie Lavagetto won the annual "Good Guy" award from the San Francisco chapter of the Baseball Writers of America.

Cookie undoubtedly deserved it, as did his two predecessors, Tom Haller and Willie McCovey. But there are some strange and complicated implications in such an annual reward.

Since the award is made to "the baseball personality deemed most congenial by the writers," does this mean that Haller and McCovey are no longer congenial, or that Cookie wasn't congenial until this past year? Or does it mean that all three are just as nice. If this were true, why wasn't there a three-way tie for the past three years?

Or, are they dealing in levels of congeniality. In other words, perhaps Lavagetto had a good congeniality season, while McCovey and Haller hit slumps in congeniality.

They seem to be establishing a pattern of spreading the congeniality award around, giving everybody a crack at it so that there can be no congenial repeaters. Which may mean that Cookie can relax next year, being automatically out of the race, and be a dirty so-and-so.

What REALLY disturbs us about this rotation system, though, is that there just aren't that many congenial baseball personalities around, and that eventually the S.F. chapter of sports writers will get down to Juan Marchal, which right away would start a furious controversy with Los Angeles, and there's no use dealing with them in the off-season, too.

WE'RE STILL TRYING to get an answer to the question we posed a few weeks ago: why does a golfer require complete silence when almost any other type athlete (if you can consider golfers athletes) is required to perform in what is often bedlam.

Bob Hanna, executive director of the Northern California Golf Association, says that, unlike other sports, the spectators are not in the stands but right there on the field, breathing down your neck. There are no teammates to cover up for you. You're out there all by yourself, in the spotlight, in your Maiden-form.

We asked Lefty Gomez, an ardent golfer, and he said he had never had the opportunity to compare the respective types of sports, because when he was pitching baseballs, the stands often were deadly silent.

Gino Marchetti, Daly City native, San Francisco barber and Monday golfer, came up with perhaps the best answer.

"I think," he said, whacking a straight-edge against a meager three-foot stool, "it's because golfers figure that's what they're supposed to do. It's like a tradition, or something."

"I know that when my golfing partner, Eddie Dennis (who's threatening to come out again for a Daly City council seat) and I are out there, we talk all the time. Many is the time I'm holding a conversation with somebody as I'm stroking a putt. It doesn't seem to affect my game one way or the other."

Gino, incidentally, owns the last of the San Francisco barbershops which opens directly into a bar, in this case, Doyle's, at Twenty-fourth and Church (Gino's barbershop is on Twenty-fourth).

"I have the longest waits for haircuts in the city," says Gino, chuckling, "and the funny part, the shop's always empty. My customers all wait at the bar."

"The people off the street have first crack, and as a consequence—if the guys at the bar don't peek their heads in every once in a while—they miss their turns over and over."

"Sometimes it's three or four hours before they make the chair, and by that time they don't much care, anyway."

"And then they phone their wives and tell them not to worry, Gino's awfully busy. Boy, some of the wives in this neighborhood must think I'm a millionaire."

TAG ENDS: South City's Jim Henry, consistently averaging around 20 points a game, has consistently hung in among the top 20 prep scorers in Northern California. Some local basketball filberts are calling Terra Nova's Rich Burt (varsity) and Don Delbon (lightweights) the best pair of coaches in the NPL. Latest best method to break the torrid press is to practice the first string against a six-man team. Sometimes it isn't the coaches who pour it on, but their hungry substitutes.

INDIANS WIN TWO

Jefferson Is Still in Race

Boats Play the Palace

Jefferson High School, the only North Peninsula League basketball team with a chance to catch title-bound South San Francisco, won both its games last week to keep hot on the trail of the Warriors.

The Indians, now 6-1 in NPL play, bounced Oceana last Thursday afternoon, 59-41, and edged by tough El Camino, 68-63, last Tuesday.

The win over the third-place Colts gave the Indians a bit of breathing room between themselves and the rest of the pack since it put their nearest competitor a full two games back.

Only one game separated South San Francisco and Jefferson as of Monday.

Coach Mike Orlich's Indians, getting a 13-point outburst from junior Willie Redmond in the final period, rallied for their victory over the Colts at the latter's gym.

Redmond, along with reserve Dan Cafferetta, pulled the Indians from a 46-44 deficit at the start of the final stanza to the victory.

Cafferetta came off the bench and hit eight points from the outside to sink any hopes that the Colts may have entertained of upsetting the Indians.

"We are going to have to do a lot better in the second half of league play," said Colt Coach Warren Hagberg following the game. "We had them for three quarters today, but let them get off the hook in the final period. We're just going to have to learn to play four quarters of basketball," he concluded.

The Colts maintained hard control throughout most of the first half until 6-3 center Rich Swain got in foul trouble. However, Camine still managed to march off of the court with a 30-25 advantage at the intermission.

The real trouble for the Colts came just after the outset of the final period when playmaker guard Gordon Sanoff fouled out. The alert Indians applied a full court press and forced the hosts into ball control errors which the Jeffs converted into the winning points.

The Indian cagers remained within staring distance of the NPL crown by downing Oceana, 59-41, on the loser's courts, Tuesday.

A field goal by Jeff's Redmond broke a 1-1 deadlock in the opening seconds and the Indians never relinquished the lead from that point on.

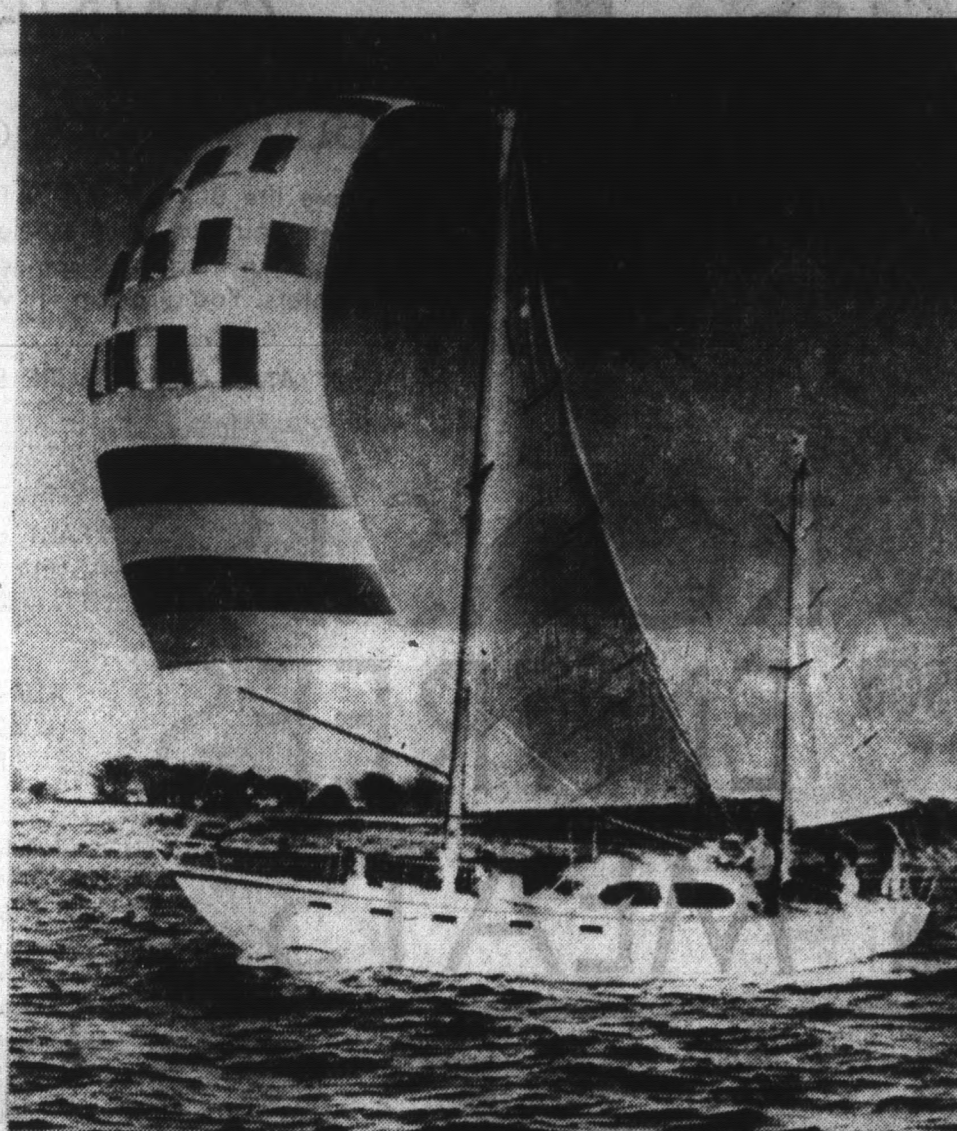

"We looked sharp passing and running," said Orlich following the contest. "I was especially pleased with my two juniors, Redmond and John Kirby, the colorful mentor added.

Over on the other side of the gym, a disconsolate Shark Coach Rich Warne didn't have too much to say. "It was the story of the season," he commented.

The Indians, getting excellent teamwork contributions from Redmond, pulled the fast break on the Sharks time and again in the second period to race out to a 38-23 halftime lead. Only field goals by Tim Sershan and Jim McCaughey kept the score respectable for the hosts.

Tom Pritchard paced the Indian scoring attack with 19 points, while the usually prolific Redmond turned team leader and contributed many assists.

ONE OF THE twin queens of the 22nd annual San Francisco National Sports and Boat Show at the Cow Palace that opened Friday is this new 44-foot, full-powered Countess auxiliary sailboat by Pearson. It is the largest sailboat to be shown this year in any boat show in the U.S.

Kirby meshed 15 markers for the winners. McCaughey led the Oceana cause with 13 points. The Indians made it a sweep by taking the lightweight contest from the Sharks, 49-34.

The Atlanta Braves will open their new park with three week-end exhibition games against the New York Yankees, April 8, 9 and 10. The first two games will be under lights.

'Quiet' S.S.F. Is Still Out in Front

By BRUCE GRANTHAM

The fact that their rooting section is sometimes non-existent seems to have little bearing on the 1966 cage performances of South San Francisco High School.

The Warriors' cagers invaded the foreign confines of the Westmoor High gym last Thursday and despite the fact that you could count their rooters on two hands, defeated the Rams, 63-43.

It was South S. F.'s seventh League victory and left them all alone in first place, one game ahead of Jefferson. The loss dropped the Rams back to a 3-4 record.

The Warriors got off to a fast start with Johnny Moro taking three feed passes from Joe Smith for fast break lay-ups, and the visitors never were in trouble after that.

"We played well, generally, and the boys took advantage of Westmoor's mistakes," South S. F. Coach Bill Purcell commented following the victory. "I was especially pleased with the playing of Moro; he's done a fine job all season," he added.

The Rams, attempting to play control ball, actually played into the hands of the Warriors. In trying to slow the game down and set up the deliberate one-shot from underneath, Westmoor committed ball handling errors which enabled the Warriors to execute their patented fast break.

Picking up the tempo at the outset of the second half, SSF broke the Ram's zone defense apart with forward Jim Henry hitting three straight jumpers to vault S.S.F. out to a 34-17 advantage.

S.S.F.'s overpowered Oceana 74-54 for its sixth straight North Peninsula League victory last Tuesday.

Coach Len Olds' class B team also remained in first place with a come-from-behind 50-47 win in the lightweight game.

The blue and white varsity struck fast in the opening stanza to gain a quick 20-9 advantage. The coasters were no match for the league-leading Warriors.

Rick Warren's lads closed the gap to within ten points three times after the opening minutes of the first quarter, but could get no closer.

Hostesses for the meeting are to be the mothers of the third grade classes, Mrs. Richard Phillips and Mrs. Richard Teijeiro are in charge of the refreshments.

MRS. BERNICE GALLO transformed the rumpus room of her home into a facimile of a Parisian sidewalk cafe for the party hosted by the members of the Nu Sigma Chapter of the Beta Sigma Phi sorority last Thursday evening.

Guests of honor at the meeting were the members of the Xi Kappa Upsilon Chapter of the sorority and they were treated to a screening of the very fine travel film, "San Francisco," and served a variety of desserts created from recipes gathered from the four corners of the globe.

It was the second lively social planned during the recent weeks by the Nu Sigmas. Late in January the sisters feted their husbands at a dinner party, A Little Bit of Italy, which was organized by Mrs. Paul Kiel and Mrs. Thomas Eichner.

TORTILLA ESPANOL — Real Spanish Omelet is made with potatoes and sometimes onion. Here it is, turned out of the fry pan—all ready for a family meal.

Tortilla Espanol European Favorite

By MATILDE DE MOYA

MADRID (AP) — One of Spain's favorite and most widely used dishes—the real Spanish omelet—bears no resemblance to the highly spiced egg dish that in the western hemisphere is served under that name.

Properly speaking, the Spanish version is a simple potato omelet—called a "tortilla espanol" in this country—that over the centuries has been a staple of Spanish family meals, both urban and country.

The source of this tasty dish, a favorite in many areas of Spain, has been lost in history. But early Spanish warriors feasted on Spanish omelet around their campfires or carried pieces of cold omelet in their knapsacks for a quick noonday meal.

In modern Spain this sturdy omelet is often the hot main course of a simple luncheon or supper. In recent years the cold omelet, cubed and inserted on toothpicks for easy handling, has been a regular with cocktails or wine.

There are regional variations of this favorite dish, as there are of most Spanish dishes. But by and large it follows the simple recipe with the big choice of onions or no onions.

Friends tell me that the omelet shows up regularly in the hunt-lunch basket of Gen. Francisco Franco, the Spanish chief of state.

SPANISH OMELET (TORTILLA ESPANOL)
3 small potatoes
1 onion, if desired
Olive oil
4 eggs
Salt

Peel and thinly slice the potatoes. If the onion is used, peel and thinly slice it, too.

In a little olive oil in a fry pan, slowly fry the potato until soft. If you and your family favor the onion variety of omelet, fry the onion at the same time.

Beat the eggs well. Add the cooked potatoes (and onion if used) and stir lightly.

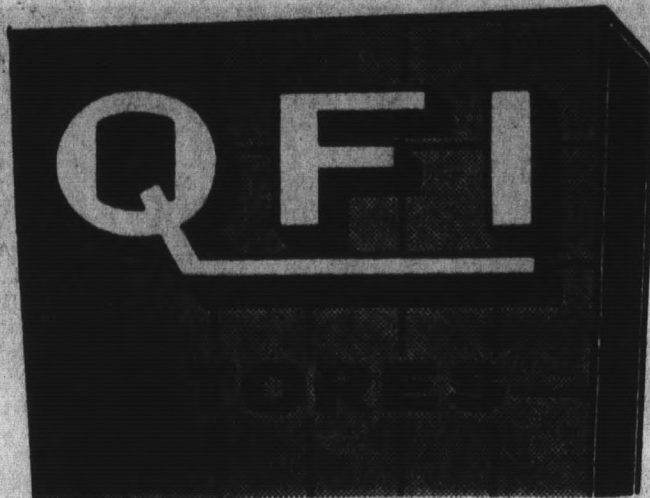

Put 2 tablespoons olive oil in a well-seasoned fry pan. (Any cooking oil will do, but no Spanish family would accept anything but olive oil in preparing their omelets.) Heat until the oil smokes, then pour in the egg mixture. Salt lightly to taste. Brown well on one side, then turn in the pan, using a plate or pan cover to help with the maneuver. Brown on the other side, keeping the omelet well-rounded with a skimmer. Serve while hot, or put aside to cut up for appetizers with drinks before a meal.

New product, dried butter, is being developed by University of Wisconsin researchers. Made from either cream or butter, it is the result of a spray process that yields a product containing 80 per cent fat, same as ordinary butter.

THIS PASTARONI with its wonderful flavor combination of tomatoes, dairy sour cream, Cheddar cheese and onions is a protein-rich meatless main dish that can't be beat for getting raves from the man or men in your life.

Dairy Products Coming Into Own

Dairy products really come into their own when presented in meatless main dishes like Pastaroni with its abundance of protein rich dairy sour cream and Cheddar cheese blended to flavor-perfection with onions and mayonnaise. A dish especially originated and "neighborhood tested" by home economists for the Dairy Council of California to entice and please the man or men in your life. Recipe: 4 hearty servings or 6 less hearty.

2/3 cup milk
2 cups biscuit mix
2 tablespoons melted butter
3 to 4 tomatoes
Salt
Freshly ground black pepper
1 cup (1/2 pint) dairy sour cream

1/2 cup mayonnaise (not salad dressing)
1 cup grated sharp Cheddar cheese
1/2 cup finely chopped onion
Paprika

Combine milk with biscuit mix and stir to a soft dough. Beat vigorously until stiff. Place dough on floured board and knead 8 to 10 times. Roll out into thin rectangle. Lift gently and place in 13 x 9 x 2-inch baking dish, stretching dough to fit. Push dough up sides of pan to make a slight rim. Brush with melted butter. Cut tomatoes into 6 or 8 wedges and arrange in rows over dough. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Combine dairy sour cream with mayonnaise, cheese and onion. Spoon over tomatoes; smooth mixture slightly with back of spoon to barely reach edge of dough. Sprinkle with paprika. Bake at 425 degrees 10 minutes; reduce heat to 350 degrees and bake 10 to 15 minutes longer. Serve hot.

Spicy Orange Pot Roast Is Different

That pot roast can come up a dozen different ways, and with chuck so reasonable at Peninsula markets, why not? SPICY ORANGE POT ROAST

Yield: 6 to 8 servings
4 pound beef chuck roast, 2 inches thick
1 clove garlic, crushed
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon ground cumin
1/2 teaspoon ground cloves
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon fat
6 ounce can frozen concentrated orange juice, thawed
1/4 cup water
1 bay leaf
Cornstarch
Blend together garlic, salt, cumin, cloves, and pepper. Make small slits in the beef with a sharp pointed knife, and in each cut insert some of this paste until all is used.
Melt fat in a heavy kettle. Brown meat on both sides. Add orange juice, water, and bay leaf. Cover and simmer about 2 hours or until meat is fork tender.
Remove meat to a warm platter. Measure broth and skim off excess fat. Return broth to kettle and blend in 1 tablespoon cornstarch for each cup of broth. Cook and stir until gravy is thickened. Serve over roast.

Bomb Scares Need Reprisals

DURING RECENT MONTHS San Mateo County cities have been plagued by bomb threats against stores and supermarkets. On two occasions bombs have actually been exploded in connection with these threats although the damage was slight.

Most of the threats have been false but this does not in any way mitigate the seriousness of the offense. Many persons have been placed in fear of their lives and a number of brave police officers have risked their lives in searching for the reported bombs.

Evacuation of the stores has caused heavy loss of business and hundreds of shoppers have been inconvenienced or forced to go without food items they needed.

At a different, but equally serious level, telephoned bomb scares have repeatedly forced temporary evacuation of schools with enormous resultant waste to taxpayers and the canceling of urgently needed classroom hours.

In most cases the school bomb scares have been caused by student pranksters, but in a number of such episodes irresponsible students appear to have been aided and abetted by even more irresponsible adults.

WHEREVER THEY occur bomb scares are an assault against the public safety and welfare and must be halted.

Fortunately, a practical method of halting them has already been found. When threats and scares of this nature against passenger airliners became rife several years ago the federal government stepped in with decisive action. Bomb scares that could turn back or delay mail and passenger planes were made a federal offense.

The FBI and other federal officers investigated each threat with unremitting energy. Federal prosecutors acted swiftly and the federal courts refused to give any credence to the "I was only joking" pleas of defendants. Stiff sentences were meted out.

As a result, airplane bomb scares have all but ceased entirely.

We do not suggest that our local bombing scares be made federal offenses, but the applicable laws on the state and local level could be utilized to procure results similar to those obtained by federal prosecution and enforcement.

ALL THAT IS REQUIRED is prompt and thorough investigation, and arrests followed by stern and vigorous prosecution.

The courts will undoubtedly deal properly with any persons convicted of a crime so injurious to the public safety and welfare.

When pranksters learn that their thoughtlessness will be severely punished, and when criminals find that threats against public places and the people in them will be dealt with as major crimes, the bomb scares will stop.

'Lady Luck' Is Imagined

Barbara Bladen

ASK SAM LANDY to define "lady luck" and he'll make a face like a bird eating a bad worm. He knows the gambler's jargon and says that term is never used, never was and is only a figment of a movie producer's imagination.

As technical advisor on gambling films, the former resident of Hillsborough who now lives in Las Vegas, where he is vice president of the Dunes Hotel, corrects such errors as calling dealers "Croupiers," or "raking" in dice from crap tables or using a slick man at the wrong table.

He's also one of the foremost lecturers on gambling and claims he got his start right here on the Peninsula. As secretary of the Men's Club of Temple Beth-El, he filled in as guest speaker when the regular lecturer didn't show up. Since he was working for the Dunes even then, he talked on the subject he knew best and added a lot of humor to lighten the program. From that time on, he was asked by other temples and men's clubs, and figures in the past ten years he's given 2,300 lectures.

"I make it very clear that I don't do card manipulations, I don't even know how. And it implies that dealers know how to cheat. Which isn't the case. We're constantly trying to change the image that gambling is connected with dishonesty."

As for poker, he won't even discuss it. His expertise is games of chance, not skill. That's why he didn't assist with the recent film, "Cincinnati Kid," in which Edward G. Robinson and Steve McQueen have a poker showdown.

ALONG WITH correcting nomenclatures, he has also taught film stars how to deal. Corinne Calvert was his pupil in "Powder River," and because the late Clark Gable's hands were so clumsy, Landy's hands were used in the card dealing scenes for "Any Number Can Play."

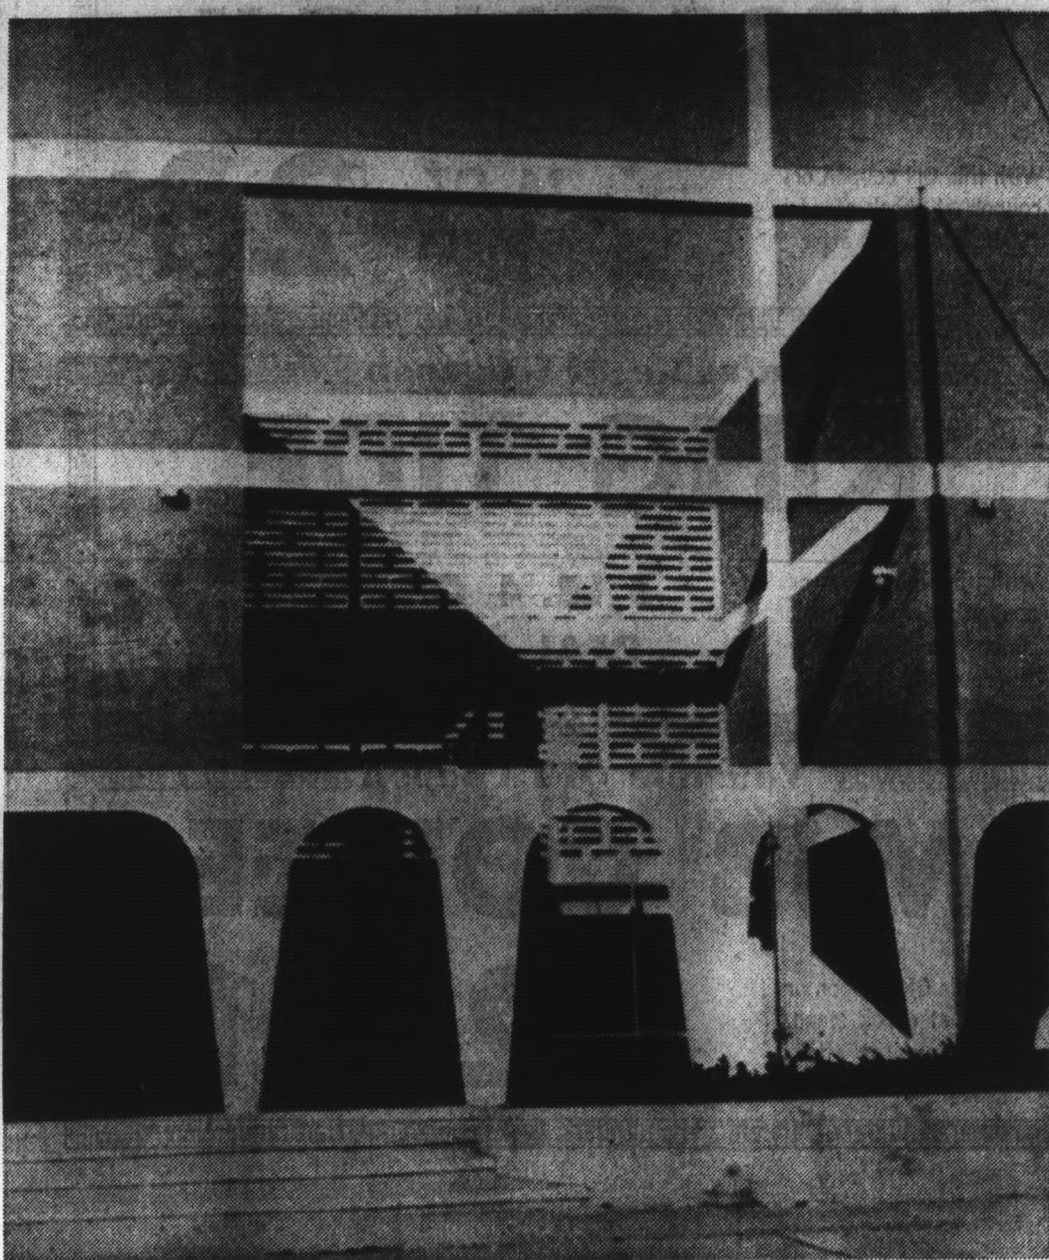

This was the movie in which Landy and Director Mervyn LeRoy had an argument. "I told them that the term 'hood' came from the word hoodlum and was pronounced with a 'you' sound, not like hood of a car. He had his researchers look it up and found that I was right but wouldn't admit it. Instead he changed it to chiseler."

Images have played a vital part of his personal philosophy. "I studied to be a rabbi, went to a Hebrew grammar school at the age of 11, also high school and four years of theological college. When a rabbi refused to perform the service at the funeral of a friend of mine because he was offered more money to attend another service, I changed my mind."

As for images in the gambling profession, we never allow a dealer to wear a moustache because it is reminiscent of the Mississippi gambler who was a "con" man.

CONSIDERED ONE of the top dealers in the country, Landy's lectures show the average visitor to the Dunes how to win important money. "A person could parlay $1 up to $10,000. We limit the losses he can make but never limit the winnings. What people refuse to believe is that there is no relation between one roll of the dice and the next or one card dealt and the next. All these theories about successive rolls being predestined are foolish."

Terra Nova High School

TERRA NOVA HIGH SCHOOL in Pacifica was opened in September of 1961 for the first time. It had a first-year enrollment of 1,311 students. Today, there are 1,220 students at Terra Nova. The drop is due to the completion of Oceana High School. The only addition to the school was finished in 1963. The school is designed to hold over 1,490 students. Dr. Harold Tonini is the principal. He has been at TN since the school opened. (Post-Times Photo)

Better Business

Public Land Advertising

Lorene Beasley

THERE ARE some 465 million acres of land in Public Domain which can be acquired by private citizens but only under certain conditions. There is no free government land nor does the federal government sell land to private citizens for anything under the fair market value.

Yet, in spite of repeated warnings by the Department of the Interior, the problem of misleading public land advertising has not been abated and the department has reason to believe that more than 20,000 land-hungry people last year purchased a listing from a classified advertisement which appeared coast to coast in newspapers and magazines. The misleading public land advertisement was placed by promoters using a Washington, D.C., mailing address and a name that resembled a government agency. The people who sent in $1 "to cover the service and mailing fee" for the information brochure with a land list from the Public Land Information Office thought they were dealing with an official agency which was giving government land away or selling it for as little as $1 an acre.

Up to 160 acres were offered for homesteading and smaller tracts were available for campsites and homesites. This promotion scheme has been stopped but other firms are currently promoting the same scheme.

CHARLES H. STODDARD, director of Interior's Bureau of Land Management, has stated that the bureau's State Land Offices are the only reliable source of information on Public Land Sales.

Official notices of federally owned land being offered for sale are placed in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Some sales ARE advertised in local newspapers. You can obtain a prospectus from the Land Office handling a sale. No charge is made for this information.

The following information was received from the Interior's Bureau of Land Management: Three hundred six million acres are reserved for such public uses as national parks and forests, wildlife refuges, power sites and reservoirs, public buildings and grounds, and military reservations. The remaining 465 million acres of public lands can be obtained by:

1. "HOMESTEADING" — but first suitable public land must be found. The land must be classified by the Bureau of Land Management as better suited for agriculture than for any other purpose. The chances of finding such land are extremely slim—except in Alaska, practically all of the remaining public lands are very dry and farming is almost impossible. Rules governing homesteading are very strict, and an investment in time and money may easily run higher than if an existing farm were purchased on the open market.

2. "PURCHASING" a small tract of up to five acres. Bureau of Land Management Land Offices, located in 11 Western states and Alaska, frequently hold public auctions for tracts which have been classified as best suited for this purpose. Prices vary with the quality of the land and the value of nearby private property and may range from a few hundred to several thousand dollars for a small tract. Notices of small tract sales are published in the FEDERAL REGISTER and a Land Office will notify you of pending sales upon request.

Open House Gathering

DALY CITY Mayor Francis Pacelli and Virginia Church, director of the San Mateo County YWCA, are all smiles at the annual YWCA Spring Open House program. Held in Westmoor High School, the program introduced via talks and exhibits the activities the YWCA sponsors for women and children. The YWCA's office is in the Westlake Shopping Center in Daly City. 'Steaming' Along On the McCloud

Don Miller

EVERY SO OFTEN, a horde of dedicated, almost fanatical people descends upon the quiet, picturesque lumber town of McCloud in Siskiyou County, some 70 miles northeast of Redding.

The townspeople have become accustomed to these periodic invasions because when the horde begins streaming in early on a weekend morning from virtually all points in California and some in Oregon, the citizenry knows that it's time for one of "these days."

One of "These days" is a day filled with the haunting hoot of a railroad steam locomotive, proudly possessed by the McCloud River Railroad and brought out of semi-retirement for a railroad fan club-sponsored excursion through the lava and tall pine country that rings the base of towering Mt. Shasta, looming over McCloud, the railroad and the horde of invaders.

The locomotive in question is affectionately known as Old No. 25 and it was the last steam engine to be purchased by the railroad when it was acquired in 1925.

It's been huffing and puffing over the railroad's 100 miles of track for 40 years now—the last few of which have been devoted to hauling special excursions every six months or so. Old No. 25 no longer is used in the railroad's daily operations—the diesel monsters took care of that.

THE McCLOUD RIVER Railroad was one of the early logging railroads to be founded in California. The first train chugged over its rails in 1897. It once was the only way of reaching the interior of the wild country that existed in these days in the Mt. Shasta area.

The McCloud on occasion was used by the late William Randolph Hearst who would bring special trains filled with celebrities to his fabled, wooded estate at Wyntoon.

The McCloud threw in the sifter on its passenger service in 1930 after a disheartening and financially disastrous last try at earning passenger revenue.

That year, following the lead of its sister railroads, the McCloud decided to run a ski special from its connection point with the Southern Pacific in Mt. Shasta City, to the Shasta skiing area.

However, the townspeople of Mt. Shasta City met the skiers when they arrived on the Southern Pacific and offered to show the winter enthusiasts around—in their cars!

The McCloud ski special left that day with only two people aboard and the railroad subsequently ended all passenger service. Perhaps it's just as well for that sad day tends to give the latter day excursions a touch of history.

WE JOINED one of these dedicated groups of rail fans the other day for the third annual winter adventure with steam on the McCloud and came away with vivid recollections of near-wilderness pine country, echoing the mournful blast of a locomotive steam whistle. Our train, a far cry from anything approaching even third class, consisted of Old

No. 25, two logging flat cars, two bright red cabooses and a faded red caboose.

The 105 rail addicts who had chosen this mode of transportation for a day rode in the cabooses, which were equipped with coal-burning stoves and hard benches. The rear caboose carried a supply of lunches and coffee and got so crowded on occasion that it resembled that ramshackle conveyance of Tonerville Trolley fame.

Our itinerary called for a 66-mile round trip to Pondosa, another sleepy lumber town, and several stops for photographic purposes. These stops proved to be the highlights of the trip—both from the standpoint of watching Old No. 25 charge around a curve, belching black smoke and shrieking nightly, and watching the rail fans watch Old No. 25.

On all stops for photographs, a stern rule that rail fans dare not violate decrees that a "shooting line" for photographers and fans manning tape recorders be maintained and that no one stand in front of this line.

The purpose of this rule is to ensure that you steam locomotive huffing up the right-of-way will not show anyone except the engineer and fireman. The photographs thus will depict what appears to be a regular freight train under steam power—rather than an old has-been brought out of retirement to haul a bunch of steam diards around.

ON THE EXCURSION the other day, it snowed heavily during the trip and this factor added a touch of far north winter to the proceedings. In some places because of prior snowfalls, the snow was banked almost train-high.

To some of the veteran crew aboard, the snow reminded them of the winter of 1937-38 when a freight became trapped in an 18-foot snowfall and it took every locomotive the railroad owned, lined up behind a huge snow plow, to reach the stranded train.

A junior-sized reprise of that incident nearly occurred on the excursion when Old No. 25 steamed up to an ice-encrusted water tank, about half way to Pondosa, to take on water for the next leg of the trip.

A two-foot chunk of ice had wedged shut a valve on the tank and despite a stream of hot water and steam played on the frozen area, there was no water forthcoming to a thirsty locomotive.

Just when it looked as though the trip would end right there amid the snowflakes and the tall pines, an enterprising rail fan clambered up the tank and at the risk of slipping into highball-cold water, managed to prod the chunk of ice loose.

The water flowed, Old No. 25 drank heavily and the excursionists padded their gloved hands together in heartfelt appreciation.

Ultimately, this third annual winter steam adventure huffed back into McCloud, the addicts sadly got into their cars and motored off and the good people of McCloud knew that another one of "these days" had drawn to a nostalgic end.

White House's Meal Problems

Samuel Chandler

SO THE PRESIDENT'S family is having trouble with the White House chefs—their problem is merely the latest chapter in a long record.

Before President Fillmore could get a decent meal, he himself had to learn to operate the draughts and other gadgets on a newly installed stove and then instruct his cook. The Washingtons on the other hand had to dismiss their steward because he was "supporting a very lavish establishment below the stairs."

Thomas Jefferson kept a detailed chart for his chefs' use of the vegetables found in the Washington, D.C., market. Jefferson was one of the greatest gourmets to occupy the Executive Mansion. He employed a French chef, a household steward and 14 servants who pleased him with bouef a la mode, stuffed boned capon, chateaufort (vegetable mold), and wine jelly.

This was a far cry from the favorite meal of William McKinley's family: fried potatoes, bacon and eggs, Johnny cakes and cherry pie. Even this was prepared without appreciable supervision by the President or his wife who were not interested in food preparation and good housekeeping.

AMONG THE FAVORITE dishes of the Lyndon Johnson family is chile-Pedernales River style. Their predecessors the Kennedy's liked beef stroganoff, poulet a l'estragon and soufflé froid au chocolat. A menu from the Kennedy era shows roast sirloin vert-pre, peas a la Francaise, potatoes gaufrettes, galantine of chicken, green salad, bombe glace fellab and petits-four sec.

Most of the families that have occupied the White House ate meals that are typically American. Andrew Jackson liked roast leg of pork. James K. Polk chose Tennessee ham. The Trumans enjoyed meat loaf and casseroles. Hoover introduced caramel tomatoes and asparagus soufflé. Franklin D. Roosevelt was one of several presidents who enjoyed salmon and other sea foods.

Typical of their southern neighbors the Woodrow Wilson family dined on roast turkey and Virginia skillet cornbread. Northerners, on the other hand, like the Lincolns and the Haynes', insisted on such items as fricasseed chicken or corned beef with plenty of mashed potatoes and vegetables.

ALL OF THIS information comes from a fascinating new book, "The First Ladies' Cookbook," which contains the favorite recipes of all the Presidents of the United States. It is a large book, filled with excellent photography, complete recipes, and special oil portraits. Aside from the recipes, the historical material makes this book worth the time a reader spends with it.

The historical text was written by Margaret Brown Klapthor, Associate Curator of the Division of Political History at the Smithsonian Institution.

Sugar... 'n' Spice

By NELL NORTON

CASSEROLE COOKING is, in my estimation, the easiest way to bring delicious meals to the table. Easily prepared, easily cooked and easily served. And, since most of us are so busy, that word "easily" sounds mighty good.

The first casserole I'm going to tell you about today is most delicious and very different. Rice is a great favorite with me and a new way to serve it always interests me. This is a combination of rice, mushrooms, sausage, raisins, onions, tomatoes and garlic that results in a "delish dish."

GREEK RICE CASSEROLE

- 1/2 pound mushrooms
- 1 can tomatoes (No. 2 1/2 size)
- 3/4 cup uncooked rice
- 1 cup finely shredded lettuce
- 1 cup minced onions
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 3/4 cup seedless raisins
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1 1/2 cups bouillon (chicken or beef)
- 1 pound link sausages

Wash mushrooms and cut off tough part of stems. Leave small mushrooms whole and cut larger ones into two or three pieces.

In a two-quart casserole with fitted top, combine mushrooms, tomatoes, uncooked rice, lettuce, onions, garlic, raisins, salt and pepper and bouillon. (If you wish you may substitute chicken broth for the bouillon.)

Partially fry the sausages. And arrange on the top of the casserole. Cover tightly.

Bake in moderate oven (350-degrees) 40 to 50 minutes or until rice is tender. Uncover and cook 15 to 20 minutes longer, or until sausage is browned and liquid is absorbed.

Makes six one-cup servings.

THIS NEXT RICE DISH is also easy to make and with the combination of mushrooms and onion soup makes a delicious accompaniment for fried chicken pork chops.

RICE PARISIAN

- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1/2 cup uncooked rice
- 1/2 cup sliced cooked mushrooms
- 1 can onion soup
- 1/2 cup water

Place the butter in bottom of casserole and spread it around. Next pour in the rice and the mushrooms on top of rice. Stir in the can of onion soup and water.

Cover tightly and cook in 350-degree oven 25 to 30 minutes or till rice is tender.

RECENTLY a friend called me to get a recipe for some cup cakes that she had lost. (She'd lost the recipe, not the cup cakes.) When I gave it to her I realized that I had been neglecting this particular recipe and promptly made up a batch. These cupcakes are delicious and you good cooks should be giving them a try too.

"DO-FUNNIES"

- 2 eggs
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 cup shortening
- 1 cup sour milk
- 1 teaspoon soda
- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
- 2 cups rolled oats
- 2 cups flour
- 1 cup raisins
- 1/2 cup chopped nuts

Cream shortening and sugar, add eggs. Measure and sift together soda, cinnamon nutmeg and flour. Add to creamed mixture alternately with sour milk. Finally add the rolled oats, raisins and nuts. Bake in cupcake papers in 350-degree oven about 25 minutes, or until they test done.

NOTE: You can make sour milk by adding one teaspoon white vinegar to a cup of milk. Allow to stand at room temperature for 1/2 hour.

Although the great influence of Scouting on our youth has been recognized for many years, much more can still be done. This is why the 1966 Boy Scout Week theme is "Break-through for youth." Its purpose is to introduce Scouting to more boys. We urge Scout alumni to help in this challenging program. See the attractive scout displays in many of the Westlake Shopping Center store windows.

D.C. Historical Committee Inspects Monument to Duel

Members of the Daly City Historical Committee, as part of a continuing program to gather and note items of historical interest, have viewed a monument commemorating the last duel in California.

The monument is located in a wooded area in the Westlake Estates subdivision of Daly City, just east of Lake Merced Boulevard and almost on the Daly City-San Francisco boundary.

The historical marker, placed at the site in 1917, commemorates the day in 1859 when California Chief Justice David Terry and David Broderick, one of California's U.S. senators, fought a duel that had arisen out of an insult passed between the two men.

Broderick died in the incident and Terry subsequently resigned his post.

Historical committee members who viewed the monument included Edmund Cavagnaro, Henry Sundermann Mrs. Velma Yule, Mrs. Jean O'Rourke, City Librarian Samuel Chandler, and Councilman Edward Dennis.

GOP Begins Workshops

Republicans are invited to attend the first in a series of political workshops to be conducted by the Daly City - Colma precinct organization next Monday at 8 p.m., at the M. Pauline Brown School multi-purpose room in Daly City.

"The meeting is designed to enlist volunteers and acquaint them with precinct work," according to Mrs. Patsy Drain, local precinct chairman.

Mrs. Drain explained that the precinct organization is an integral part of the County Central Committee, and membership in a Republican club is not a requirement for participating in volunteer activities.

Featured speakers will include Jerry Stringer and Robert Hunter, who are members of the County Central Committee.

No Charges Are Lodged In Shooting

A San Francisco man who was accused of shooting a San Bruno resident in the back a month ago after an argument, has not been charged because his victim "had been seen around the area before and was suspected to be a peeping tom," according to San Francisco police.

Bruce G. Anderson, 22, of San Francisco was accused of shooting Arthur Lee Price, 46, of 3021 Pasman Drive, San Bruno, after Price had reportedly "bothered Anderson and his girl friend Carol Ann Bracco, 21," police said.

According to investigators, it was not the first time that Price had bothered the couple.

Both Anderson and Price drove to Daly City police headquarters after the shooting to report the incident. The shooting occurred on Lake Merced Boulevard, north of the Daly City line.

Price was treated for the bullet wound at Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City and at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Francisco.

Coast Urges Bid to HMB

A recommendation for admission of Half Moon Bay into the North Coast Council of Cities has been approved by the Pacifica City Council.

Councilman Fred Ballew said an amendment to the present bylaws of the Council will allow the admission of Half Moon Bay.

"DENTAL HEALTH FACTS"

After eating food containing sugar or carbohydrates, acid begins forming in your mouth. You should brush your teeth within fifteen minutes after eating before the acid has a chance to damage the enamel.

Use a tooth brush with a small head. Take time: Give the toothpaste a chance to work.

Brush down on upper teeth. Brush up on lower teeth. Force bristles into spaces between the teeth while brushing inner and outer surfaces.

Use scrubbing motion when brushing the chewing surfaces.

If you cannot brush your teeth after eating, you should rinse your mouth thoroughly with water.

Dr. Campbell tries to limit the practice to the making of dental plates. Partial plates, removable bridges and extractions for same; however, he recommends that you see your dentist at least twice a year in order to help prolong the use of your natural teeth as even the beautiful modern dentures are not as efficient as healthy, natural teeth.

Terra Nova Topics

TERRA NOVA will host a visitor from Ecuador next week. Diego Davalos, a foreign exchange student attending Los Banos High School in Los Banos this year, will attend Terra Nova for a week. He will stay in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell James. The James' have a daughter, Kathy (a junior), and a son Pete, (a sophomore) at T.N.

The visit is part of a program among communities in the area to exchange foreign exchange students for week long visits. This gives the foreign student a chance to know more of America outside of his own school or community.

While Diego visits T.N., Pacifica's French foreign exchange student from Oceana, Anne-Marie Galopin, will visit a high school in Reedley.

LAST FRIDAY was an extra day of freedom for Terra Novans, as they took a semester break after last week's vigorous finals.

THE FIRST EDITION of the STIMAX Informer came out last Thursday featuring a "Win an X," contest. The paper was put out by the press agency that very recently negotiated a contract with STIMAX.

T.N.'s FBLA (Future Business Leaders of America) is in a buzz of preparation for Saturday, February 19's FBLA Conference to be held on the T.N. campus.

CALIFORNIA FBLA clubs from schools in the Northern Section will participate in contests (typing, public speaking, shorthand, etc.) and hear guest speakers and local entertainment.

7 Seniors and 1 Junior Win New Westmoor Posts

Seven seniors and one junior make up the new spring slate of student body officers at Westmoor High School.

Seniors John Lanthier, Janis Bell, Lynn Smith, Linda Jaeger, John Glebow, Cathy Williams, and Robin Orr captured seven of the eight offices, and the other was taken by junior Rich Esposito.

Winning out over former vice president Reggie Baumgardner, Lanthier will serve for the remainder of the school year as student body president.

The varsity football player and California Scholarship Federation member will represent Westmoor in all public and inter-school relations, and act as chairman of the executive board, as well as keep in close contact with student opinions at all times.

Janis Bell took the vice presidency from her opponent Mike Vasquez. Former student body secretary and Westmoor's representative to the Governor's Conference on Youth, Janis will be responsible for money raising activities of the executive board, in addition to serving on the executive board and carrying out special assignments made by the president.

Former Executive Board Treasurer Lynn Smith received the office of secretary, coming out ahead of opponent Sue Ertoia, editor of Westmoor's school newspaper, the Rampage.

Running unopposed, Linda Jaeger was reinstated into the office of treasurer.

John Glebow, a member of the football, track, and wrestling teams, and head sergeant-at-arms in his junior year, will preside over the student courts, and as judge, will pass sentences on student offenders.

Re-elected head of the sergeants-at-arms staff was junior Rich Esposito. In this position Rich will assist the judge in court, and he is responsible for

Westmoor Speakers In Lions Contest

"Law and Liberty" is the subject for four Westmoor High School student speakers who will compete in the annual Daly City Lions Club Student Speakers Contest.

Coached by Maryann Holden, the young people will vie for first place Wednesday February 23 at noon, at Grace Presbyterian Church, 300 Crocker Avenue.

The winner of the local club contest will participate in a Lions Club Zone Contest in March, in competition with winners from Pacifica, Brisbane, San Bruno and South San Francisco.

The winner of the local, zone, regional and district contests will receive scholarships of $1,500 to any accredited junior college, college, or university. Students tying for second place in the district contest will each receive a scholarship of $500.

'Nature Took Care of It'

What happened to the refuse that littered Pacifica beaches most of last year?

"Nature took care of it," City Engineer Kenneth Thompson has told the City Council.

Although there is no more refuse on the beaches coming from the Daly City dump, Thompson said the possibility exists it could be buried under the 6 to 13 foot sand increase at this time of year.

They'll Gallop in Parking Lot

THESE MASSIVE Clydesdales, winners of nine consecutive international six-horse hitch championships in the last ten years, will perform in the parking lot of the QFI market at 2900 Alemany

Boulevard between 3 and 5 this afternoon. The horses, each weighing some 2,000 pounds, pull a wagon that weighs more than 4,400 pounds.

Jr. Statesmen Program Set

Under the guidance of Frank Kane of the Jefferson High School social studies department, Jefferson organized an observer delegation to the fall state convention of the junior Statesmen of America in Sacramento.

RoseAnn Wallace and Marty Craig helped organize the delegation of 47 for the convention.

The Junior Statesmen program is a private educational effort carried on in co-operation with high schools.

The organization's motto is "Make Democracy Work." This is done by cultivating good citizenship. It recognizes that in a democracy the choices are made by the citizens, and it stimulates a knowledge of events at all levels—international, state, and local.

Sponsor Hon. Earl Warren has said, "The practical knowledge many of our high school students receive from its programs is a valuable supplement to their formal education and will be of lasting benefit to them as adults."

Other sponsors are: Edmund G. Brown, Dwight D. Eisenhower, Stanley Mosk, and Dr. Gordon Sprul.

The enthusiasts at Jeff have had an organizational meeting where a constitutional committee was formed. This committee met at the home of Kim Nobles in Colma.

Those who are active in the group now have been working during the school holidays so as to be organized and eligible to participate in the Ygnacio Valley Regional one-day convention Saturday.

Tax News Is Announced

Taxpayers living in the Northern California Area should mail their 1965 Federal Income Tax returns to the District Director of Internal Revenue, 450 Golden Gate Avenue, San Francisco.

Joseph M. Cullen, District Director of Internal Revenue for Northern California, stated that each year thousands of tax returns are mailed to incorrect offices.

Such returns must be sorted and forwarded to the District Office where the returns should have been filed in the first place. This takes time.

End the won't-spring-ever-come feeling in your household by sparking mealtime with interesting new versions of everyday fare. Dress-up chicken with canned chicken gravy and some imaginative additions for this skillet dish with an Oriental flavor.

Chicken Oriental In a New Sauce

Trying to cook for people with jaded winter appetites can be frustrating. No matter what you propose serving, at this time of the year only the promise of tender asparagus and tangy-sweet rhubarb truly appeals.

While those palate-teasing harbingers of spring still hide under patches of snow, rely on imagination to put verve into your cooking. Serve everyday foods new ways.

Perk-up a family meal with this unusual (and good) chicken dish — lightly browned boned chicken breasts simmered in a luscious, golden sauce. The base for the sauce comes from a can; it's velvet-smooth canned chicken gravy made with rich chicken stock and tender bits of chicken. Stud the gravy with water chestnuts and mushrooms and season it with soy sauce and ginger. With these distinctive additions, the sauce gives an Oriental air to the quick and easy skillet dish.

Complete this meal with fluffy rice, buttered spinach, hard rolls, and a cold apricot soufflé.

CHICKEN ORIENTAL
2½ pounds chicken breasts, split, skinned, and boned
¼ pound mushrooms, quartered
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 can (10½ ounces) chicken gravy
1 can (5 ounces) water chestnuts, sliced
1 tablespoon chopped crystallized ginger
1 tablespoon soy sauce
3 cups cooked rice
Slivered almonds or walnuts

In skillet, brown chicken and mushrooms in butter. Add gravy, water chestnuts, ginger, and soy sauce. Cover; cook over low heat 15 minutes or until chicken is tender. Stir now and then. Serve over rice; garnish with nuts. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Balanced Diet Importance Shown

Experts say everyone should eat a "balanced diet." Why is a balanced diet so important? What do you have to eat to balance your diet? How can you plan balanced family meals?

Scientific studies have established that the body needs about 50 different food factors—called nutrients—to function in best vigor and health, the Nutrition Foundation reports. The foundation, whose board of trustees is made up of leading university, food company and allied industry representatives, is a non-profit organization supporting research and education in nutrition.

The nutrients include vitamins, minerals and common foods such as proteins, carbohydrates and fats. About 50 essential nutrients are known now and scientists predict that it is probable new ones will be discovered in the future.

Only a trace of some of these nutrients are needed, while others are required in large amounts. Some nutrients must be eaten each day and others can be stored by the body for short periods. Many foods consist of a mixture of nutrients.

Herb Onion Rings for The Faithful

Onion lovers will eat 'em any way you cook them. But they may like this recipe over others.

FRENCH FRIED HERB-ONION RINGS

Yield: 6 servings

Shortening
2 to 3 large Bermuda or Spanish onions
1 cup flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon thyme
¼ teaspoon marjoram
1 cup milk
1 egg, slightly beaten

Peel onions and slice ¼-inch thick. Separate into rings. Chill in cold water about 1 hour. Drain and dry thoroughly. Sift dry ingredients together. Combine milk and egg and stir into flour to make the batter. Dip onion rings into batter. Lower several batter-dipped rings into hot, deep fat (365 F.) and fry until golden brown. Drain on absorbent paper. Crisp in moderate oven (350 F.) 5 minutes. Salt to taste. Serve hot with steak.

but no single food provides all the nutrients in the amounts needed. The trick in balancing a diet is to select the mixture of foods which will provide you with all the needed nutrients.

Fortunately, you need not keep track of 50 different nutrients when planning a meal—that would kill all the pleasure of eating. A balanced diet is assured simply by eating every day foods from four groups which have been set up by scientists to simplify food planning and provide insurance that your body gets the nutrients it needs. The meat group includes beef, veal, lamb, pork, organ meats (liver, kidney, heart), poultry, eggs, fish, and shellfish. Alternates are dry beans, dry peas, nuts or peanut butter. Two or more servings are needed every day. A serving consists of three ounces of lean cooked meat, poultry or fish without bones, or two eggs, or a cup of cooked dry beans or peas, or four tablespoons of peanut butter. This group contributes protein needed for growth and repair of body tissue as well as vitamins and minerals.

The milk group includes milk in every form: Fluid, dry, whole, skim, and canned, as well as cheese, cream and ice cream. Children and teen-agers need three or four or more glasses a day, and adults should have the equivalent of two glasses of milk for calcium, high quality protein, and many other food factors.

The vegetable-fruit group contributes essential vitamins and minerals not found in the meat group. At least four servings a day should be eaten by everyone. Vitamin C is especially required each day since the body does not store this essential need. Citrus fruits, cantaloupe, strawberries, broccoli and green pepper are high in vitamin C; melons, cabbage, tomatoes, green leafy vegetables, potatoes and sweet potatoes cooked in the jacket have some of this vitamin. A dark-green or deep-yellow vegetable should be selected at least every other day for vitamin A.

The bread-cereal group includes rice and macaroni products. We should select foods that are whole grain, enriched or restored to get worthwhile amounts of protein, iron, and several of the B vitamins and food energy. At least four servings should be eaten each day. A slice of bread is a serving, as is ½ to ¾ of a cup of cooked cereal, macaroni, noodles, rice or spaghetti. Other foods, including butter, salad oils and sugars, round out the diet and contribute flavor, appetite appeal, and energy.

Nutrition for Elderly

Is there anything new, nutritionally speaking, for the growing number of older persons? What is the state of their nutrition? What, if anything, needs to be done about it. What can be done?

Dr. Donald F. Watkin, of the National Institutes of Health, offers his suggestions in the Journal of the American Public Health Association for April 1965. Essentially, he sees a need for making better use of existing knowledge to keep the aging body "tuned up," so to speak, as one tries to keep an automobile in tune to prolong its life and promote smooth operation.

He points out that the newer knowledge of nutrition, especially that of the amino acids and basic research in genetics, offers opportunity for helping to conserve the body during earlier life, and thus deliver it, so to speak, to the later years in better condition. He warns that this new knowledge is limited as yet, but may offer temptation to quacks and charlatans, always active in the lucrative food field, to outrun the scientists and offer people a spurious "siren call of youth to those who have made a poor adjustment to aging."

Essentially, the best we can do today with knowledge at hand is to teach, and if possible to motivate people in their earlier years to live and eat more sensibly, as an investment in better health for the future.

Health workers, physicians, nurses and nutritionists recognize, as Dr. Watkin points out, that nutrition among our elder citizens leaves much to be desired. Older persons often have defective teeth or none, which keeps them from eating a normal diet. They may be too poor to afford a good diet, and too independent to ask for help. They may live alone and be unable or unwilling to exert themselves sufficiently to get and prepare food. They may suffer from digestive disturbances. In many instances they harbor long-established poor dietetic habit patterns or prejudices which grow more deeply rooted with age.

The principal challenge to those who are responsible for aging persons, especially those whose advanced age, illness or senility interfere with their self-care, is to apply the established nutritional principles with new vigor and skill. For the shut-in, communities may need "meals on wheels" programs to supply at least one hot meal a day, plus a well-planned snack.

In the home, the problem is to offer food that tempts, and to endeavor to overcome the handicaps which interfere with its acceptance and consumption. The job is a big one, and it will grow as the number of older persons increases year by year.

A Cherry Up-And Down Cake

We're getting close to Washington's birthday, and, even if the last thing the old boy ever thought he'd be remembered for, it's cherry trees—and good eating.

WASHINGTON'S CHERRY UP AND DOWN CAKE

Yield: 9 to 12 servings
Cherry Mixture
2 tablespoons Margarine
2 tablespoons cornstarch
¾ cup sugar
1 pound can red sour pitted pie cherries

Several drops red food coloring
Cake Ingredients
2-3 stick (1-3 cup) Margarine
¾ cup sugar
1 egg
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 1/3 cups sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ cup milk

Cherry Mixture: Melt margarine in a 9 by 9 by 2 inch baking pan. Place cornstarch and sugar in a saucepan and mix well. Drain cherries. Stir ¾ cup cherry juice into sugar mixture. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture reaches boiling point. Reduce heat to very low. Cook 5 minutes. Stir in food coloring and drained cherries. Pour mixture over margarine in baking pan. Stir to blend.

Cake: Cream margarine. Add sugar. Cream until light and fluffy. Add egg and vanilla. Beat well. Sift flour and baking powder together. Add flour mixture and milk alternately to creamed mixture beginning and ending with flour. Spoon batter over cherry mixture. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 35 to 40 minutes. Cool 5 minutes. Turn upside down on platter. Serve warm or cold with whipped cream or ice cream.

Milk Diet Aid to Bone Preservation

At a recent nutrition conference for the California press sponsored by the Dairy Council of California, Dr. Benjamin T. Burton of the National Institutes of Health located at Bethesda, Md., had many pertinent remarks to make about Osteoporosis. This disease, in essence, is a decrease in the mass and strength of the bones which shows up increasingly with age. A popular expression for this condition is "hollow bones" and these are the ones which frequently break for no apparent reason.

Dr. Burton, a recognized authority on Osteoporosis and calcium requirements of the body, stressed that the condition may start much earlier in life than realized and build up gradually since the body loses between one-tenth and one-seventh of its calcium every year. If this loss of calcium is not consistently made up, there is a gradual thinning out of the bones.

He stated that prevention is the best treatment, and, speaking dietetically, he pointed out that the most rational preventative measure is a reasonably high calcium intake throughout life with special attention to a high dietary calcium supply from age 40 on.

He further said that physicians often recommend that, as age creeps up, the daily diet emphasize milk (this, of course, includes skim milk and buttermilk) and other milk products such as cheese, ice cream et al. Also shellfish, canned sardines and salmon (with bones), green vegetables and meat are advised. These foods are also recommended for their high protein content.

SHRIMP SALAD
A favorite first-course salad is shredded western iceberg lettuce tossed with shrimp, toasted silvered almonds, dill weed and a little mayonnaise. Serve in stemmed glasses.

State Now Makes Cheese End-to-End

California's 24 cheese plants, including the Marin French Cheese Company (a family owned operation right down the line) which is celebrating its one-hundredth anniversary this year, stretch virtually from one end of our state to the other, manufacturing an increasing amount of hard, semi-hard and specialty cheeses with the total production of close to 16 million pounds according to the latest available statistics.

Types of natural cheeses manufactured in California include Mozzarella, Brie, Ricotta, Camembert, Brick, Gruyere and Bleu. Then, of course, the stars of California cheese makers, Monterey Jack and Telleme which originated in California and now travel far and wide. The University of California at Davis produces Brick, Cheddar, Bleu and Monterey Jack for sale through their campus outlet. Their continuing interest in California-manufactured cheeses may well indicate a greater potential for the California cheese industry.

Latest figures on daily dairy fresh cottage cheese, a perennial favorite of California consumers, show California dairies producing close to 134 million pounds as production continues to rise steadily each year. Pint-size cartons outsell half-pints approximately 10 to 1.

Cream cheese, plain and variously seasoned, is another good seller.

Other cheese available seasonally are Cacio-Cavallo, Canestrato, Casu Marzu, Queso Blanco (Mexican), Queso Duro (Mexican) and Romano. There are two or more cheese grating factories. There are also some processed cheeses manufactured.

Getting bored? How about brightening things up for the family with Puffy Apple Rings? Perhaps grandma served something like this.

PUFFY APPLE RINGS
1 pound shortening
1 tablespoon melted shortening

Sprinkle with powdered sugar or serve with syrup.

Snacks For Little Tykes

Let father get out his Camembert, Limburger or other, shall we say, hearty, somewhat odoriferous cheese for snacking on while watching TV, and let the little tykes join in the sociability by joining father with his own favorite cheese snacks made of milk, yet flavorful cream cheese. Spread on graham crackers, toast, or between plain cookies.

Tucked under the skin of a potato is a great bargain in important food values for the money spent.

Important nutritional elements found in potatoes include high grade protein in a very usable form for body building and maintenance, essential carbohydrate for quick energy, and worthwhile amounts of thiamine and niacin (two significant B vitamins), and a plentiful quantity of vitamin C.

A rich source of potassium, cent of the iron, thiamine, and niacin; 4 per cent of the protein.

Consider Potato—Bargain in Good Eating amines — calcium, iron, phosphorus, iodine — and small amounts of other elements necessary to well-being. Few foods offer as much in food value return for the money spent as do potatoes.

"One medium-sized potato, when boiled in its jacket, supplies about 1/4 of the ascorbic acid (vitamin C) recommended by the National Research Council as a day's allowance for a man 25 years old; 8 to 10 per cent of the iron, thiamine, and niacin; 4 per cent of the protein.

The nutrient content of potatoes as eaten depends partly upon the way they are prepared. In general, the skin of the potato has been found to be effective in reducing mineral and vitamin losses during cooking, and, for this reason, baking, boiling, or steaming potatoes whole in their skins are good methods of conserving nutrients. For pared potatoes, the nutritive losses are low, if they are cooked in only a small amount of water.

Gingered Hot Toast

For afternoon tea-time snacking or early morning coffee-kitching, Hot Gingered Toast will give added flavor sparkle. Any leftover ginger-butter spread can be packed away in the refrigerator, well covered, of course, to be used as a repeat performer another day. It is especially good on French bread.

Plentiful Halibut Nice In a Sour Cream Bake

Halibut enjoys high popularity in California. It has firm white meat and non-fishy flavor. Give it zest with dairy sour cream and tomato sauce.

For each six servings, plan on two pounds fresh or frozen halibut fillets or steaks. Heat two tablespoons butter in saucepan. Add one medium onion, chopped; two stalks celery, chopped; simmer five minutes. Add one small can mushrooms, one eight-ounce can tomato sauce, salt and pepper to taste; simmer five minutes.

Arrange halibut in buttered baking dish and pour sauce over all. Bake in moderate, 350-degree, oven 30 minutes or until fish flakes easily with a fork. Spoon one pint dairy sour cream over halibut and return to oven for five minutes. Remove to large warmed platter; garnish with greens and lots of lemon wedges.

THIS WHIPPED CREAM-ICED, four layer beauty of a cake is truly outstanding. Three distinctively flavored fillings, made from the same easy-to-do basic custard, give it the elegance of an elaborate dessert.

Whipped-Cream Frosted Layer Cake Has Vari-Flavored Custard Fillings

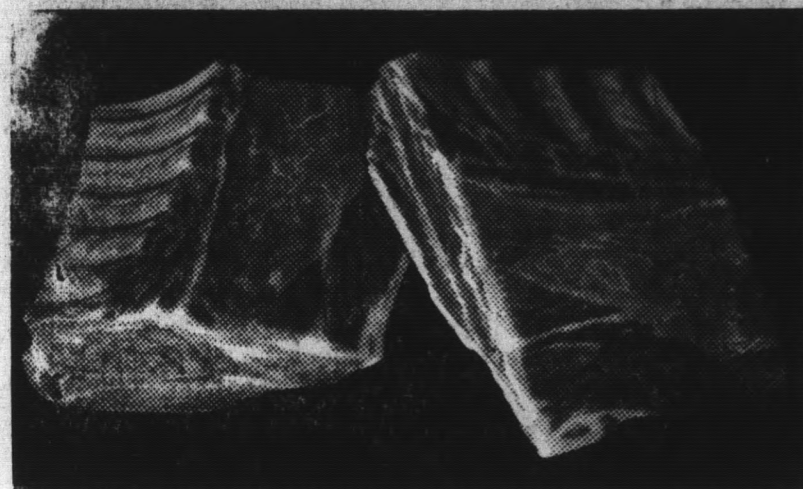

Here is a gala whipped cream-frosted four-layer cake that looks and tastes like an elaborate creation, yet takes very little time to prepare. Use favored chiffon, white or yellow cake mix for making two 8-inch layers (or bakery bought cake cut in layers). The creamy smooth basic custard, delicately and delightfully vari-flavored, goes betwixt the layers. The bottom layer gets topped with rum flavored custard, the next with maraschino cherry and the last layer with pure vanilla custard.

To attain its perfect flavor-blend, the cake gets its custard fillings and then is refrigerated for several hours. Not too long before serving time, it is ready to be festively frosted with whipped cream and garnished, if desired, with candied fruits.

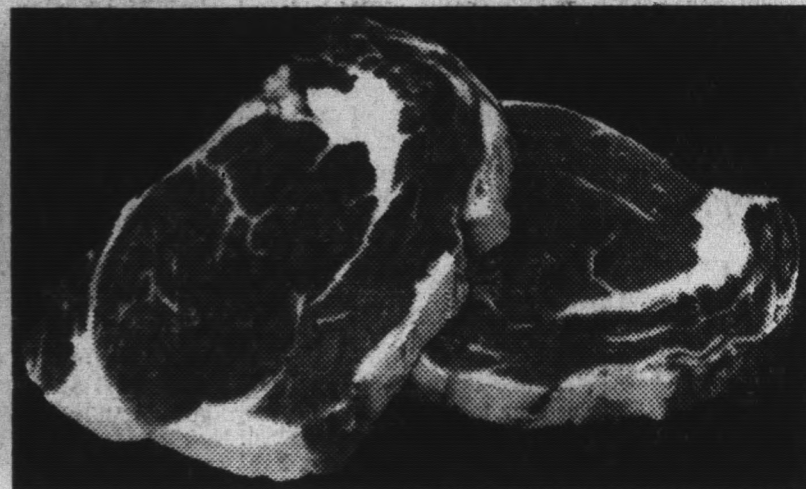

1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 cups milk

1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract
4 egg yolks
1 tablespoon maraschino syrup
6 chopped maraschino cherries
1/4 teaspoon rum or anise extract
2 8-inch cake layers, chiffon, yellow or white
1 cup (1/2 pint) whipping cream, whipped and sweetened
Diced candied fruit, optional

Combine sugar, flour and salt; gradually add milk, blending well. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly until thick. Beat egg yolks; gradually add custard mixture. Cook again over hot water, stirring constantly until mixture thickens. Divide into three portions, adding vanilla extract to one portion, maraschino syrup and chopped maraschino cherries to a portion and rum extract to third portion. Split cake layers in half. Stack layers, spreading one of the custard mixtures between each, putting the cherry layer in the middle. Chill for several hours. Before serving, spread whipped cream over cake. Garnish as desired.

Evaporated Milk Useful In Dressings

Whether it's a quick horseradish sauce for ham or ham croquettes or a Pronto Salad Dressing, so named because it goes together pronto in a jar, evaporated milk is pantry-shelf handy for assuring you smooth wonderful results. Whether you whip it, freeze it, beat it, stir it, drink it or eat it, its dependable nourishing goodness stays the same.

Whipped Horseradish Sauce. Perfect for ham bake, ham slice, cold ham. Chill 2-3 cup evaporated milk until icy cold; whip in small bowl with beater (rotary or electric) until it is stiff and holds a peak. Add 3 tablespoons lemon juice; whip to blend. Sprinkle 1 teaspoon over top; whip just to blend. Fold in 2 tablespoons bottled horseradish lightly but thoroughly. If not used immediately, chill until ready to serve. Preferably not more than 45 minutes to an hour.

Pronto Salad Dressing. Highly thought of when poured over a favorite assortment of perhaps kidney beans, green beans, garbanzos or others, this Pronto Dressing also takes well in mixed vegetable and green salads. Into a pint jar with a tight lid measure 1/2 cup evaporated milk, 1/2 cup salad oil, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 to 1/2 teaspoon chili powder, 1 tablespoon minced onion and 4 tablespoons (1/4 cup) cider or wine vinegar. Secure lid and shake vigorously until dressing is well blended. Makes approximately 1 1/4 cups. We suggest doubling.

Here's Some Tips on Using Sweet Onions!

Idaho's mild-mannered Sweet Spanish Onions are mammoth, round, and handsome, with skins of golden-bronze, sometimes creamy-white. These delicate paper-like coverings are crisp enough to crackle. Onions should be firm and dry-skinned when you buy them. Store in cold dark dry place, well-ventilated.

Remove skins with care, starting at the root end, taking off only the covering. This requires a sharp-pointed knife and a little patience to strip off the outer coat without digging into the first layer of the flesh to spoil its beauty. Do this when the onions are to be used whole.

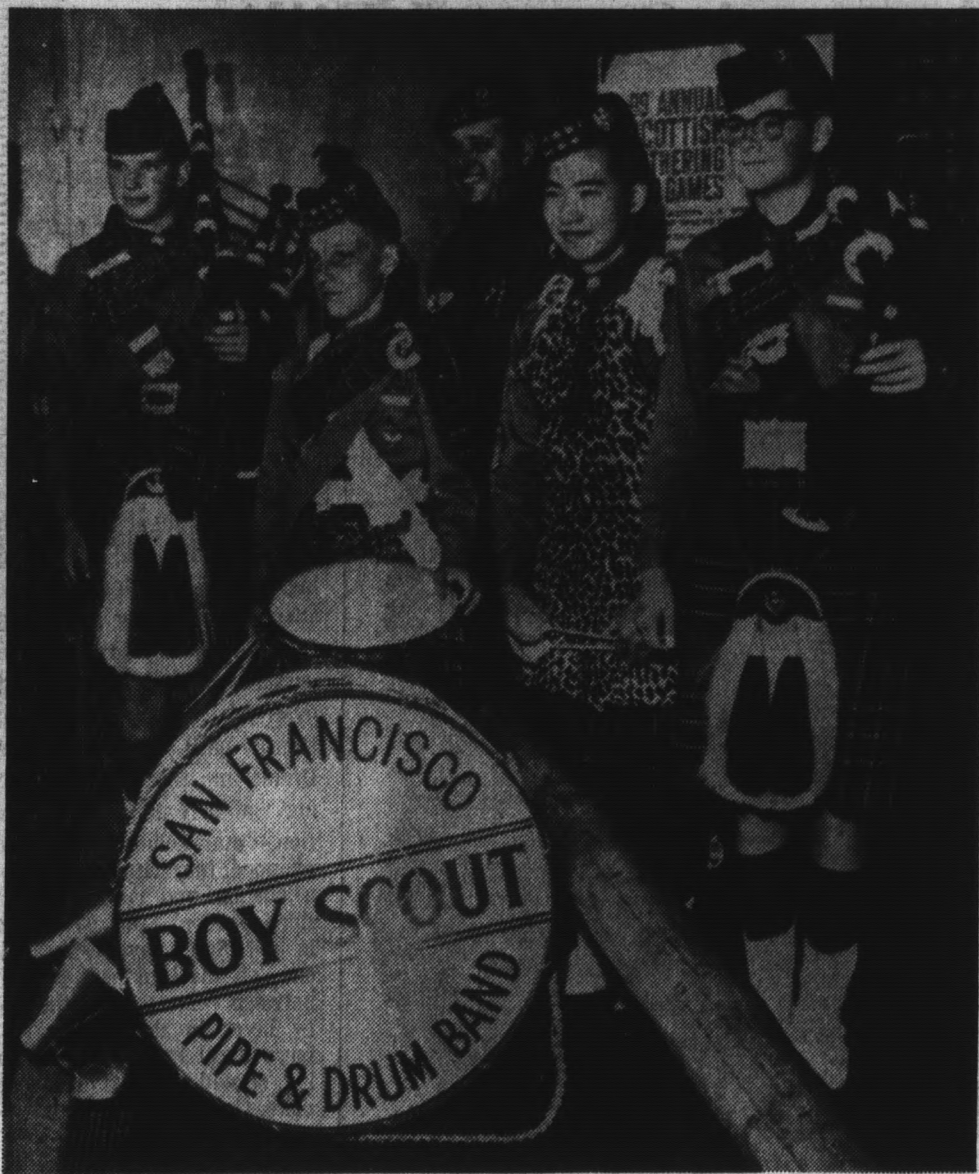

For slices or rings, the easy way is to slice the onion before peeling. The skins will easily slip off the slices. Then separate into rings if desired. The end pieces may be minced and used as seasoning.

Since their flesh is arranged in concentric rings, when cut with care the slices are most beautiful and interesting, and they easily separate into rings. Idaho's Sweet Spanish Onions do just that, for they are harvested long before the seed stalk has a chance to develop and distort the slices by dry or almost dry straw-like pieces of material slipped between the rings. These rings are perfect for French frying; as relishes, garnishes, salads, and in sandwiches.

BUSINESS

S.S.F. Manufacturing Firm Installs Huge Punch Press

Another "first" for the San Francisco Peninsula was scored with the completion of the installation of one of California's largest punch presses in the Wells Manufacturing Corporation plant in South San Francisco.

Donald Wells, president of the local firm, identified with the manufacturing of electrical restaurant equipment and special heat-sealing equipment, also announced the formation of the Flex-Fab Tool and Die Division of Wells Manufacturing Corporation.

The new 300-ton HPM hydraulic punch press equipment with a bed size of 40 by 60 inches, a new heat-treating oven with a temperature range of 2000 degrees and a 200-ton Niagra mechanical press installed last year, will enable the company to produce a larger variety of metal stamping for their own use as well as serve as a source for other Bay Area manufacturers requiring large metal stampings.

All necessary tooling and engineering in connection with the new equipment will be furnished by the newly formed Flex-Fab Tool & Die Division of Wells.

Easterners Buy S.S.F. Forms Firm

Peter W. Reilly, president of Courier-Citizen Company with headquarters in Lowell, Mass., has announced the purchase of Century Business Forms, Inc., of South San Francisco, from Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. Nunes.

Century Business Forms has been, for some time, the only major independent producer of rotary business forms in Northern California, specializing in the manufacture of carbon inter-continuous data processing forms for customers in the banking, commercial and insurance industries.

Century Business Forms will operate as a wholly owned division of Courier-Citizen Company under the direction of James Kelso, vice president of Courier-Citizen Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Nunes will remain with Courier-Citizen Company in an advisory capacity.

Free Chest X-Rays Set For N. County Residents

A concentrated campaign to give free chest X-rays to residents of Daly City, Brisbane and South San Francisco is being conducted this month by the Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association of San Mateo County.

Mary Helen Williamson, executive director, said the association's mobile unit will offer its services in those three communities during 10 days of the month.

Annual chest X-rays are advised for all persons over 15 years of age as a check on TB, lung cancer and enlarged heart. No advance appointment is necessary for the free Chestmobile service, which only involves a few seconds of time. The following North County stops are on the mobile unit's February schedule.

Feb. 9, 10 and 11—Daly City Cigar Store, Bepler and San Jose Avenues, noon to 6 p.m.

Feb. 15 and 16—El Rancho Market, Oriente Street and Geneva Avenue, Daly City, noon to 6 p.m.

Feb. 23 — Pegns Hardware, 377 Grand Avenue, South San Francisco, noon to 6 p.m.

Feb. 24 and 25—Grand and Francisco, noon to 6 p.m.

In addition, the Chestmobile will be stationed every Monday from 1 to 5 p.m. in front of the TB Association's office, 2250 Palm Avenue, San Mateo.

The Largest Restaurant In Stickney Chain Opens

AN INVITATIONAL CROWD OF NOTABLES were on hand earlier this week to toast veteran restaurateur ADRIAN (Red) STICKNEY on his sixth and most elegant restaurant, which opens today on El Camino near Fifth Avenue in San Mateo (across from Central Park). The largest in the Stickney chain of restaurants (over 19,000 sq. ft.), the new establishment is heralded as one of the most modern and exquisitely-furnished dining spots in the Bay Area, employing over 100 persons. More than 275 persons can be served up-stairs in the plush Stagecoach dining room and lounge, and an additional 300 can be accommodated downstairs in the huge banquet room, which will serve as a "men only" grill during lunch time. The Early California atmosphere is accented by bright rich leather, expensive oil paintings, plush carpeting and elaborately-framed mirrors. General manager of the dining mecca is GUNTHER SCHROEDER, assisted by ROLAND RAVENS and Maitre d' WALLY PORTER. Executive Chef is OTTO SCHROEDER. Underground parking will accommodate over 500 cars; you can enter Stickney's restaurant even when it's raining without getting so much as a drop of rain.

SEEN DINING AT FRED AND JERRY RAPP'S luxurious HOLIDAY INN in South San Francisco, recently, was Chronicle columnist BOB BARRON and KRON-TV's popular newscaster ALI BROWN, who both seemed mighty impressed with chef FRITZ POHL'S culinary arts. Dinner-dancing every Friday and Saturday night to the tunes of the GARY LONG TRIO. Call CLAUDE SCHROEDER for your Friday night reservations now. . . . Prior to opening his SHADOWS restaurant on Second Avenue and South Ellsworth in San Mateo, Owner DAVE RASMUSSEN had operated the San Francisco Airport restaurant for many years, and gained a continent-wide acquaintance among travelers. . . . Reservations are recommended when dining at LA HACIENDA INN in Los Gatos. Arrive early and meet courteous host LORENZO PIETROBON, who has a knack of making you feel right at home. If you like, Lorenzo will take you back into the kitchen where you can meet Master chef DICK BOHN, who, in addition to being an A-1 chef, owns the La Hacienda Inn.

MR. Z. L. LOO, owner of the beautiful CHARM GARDEN in Belmont, prior to World War II, managed the great Park Hotel in Shanghai, China. After the war, Mr. Loo moved to the Peninsula, where he opened the original Charming Garden in Redwood City. In 1961, he designed and built the new Charming Garden in its present scenic surroundings. . . . BILL GILBERT'S TIGER-A-GO-GO CLUB, hailed by critics from all over as one of the best Go-Go clubs in all America, is currently featuring "THE DRIFTERS," a vocal group best known for its hit records "On Broadway," "Under The Boardwalk," and "Up On The Roof," which have already reached the eight million mark. Manager STEVE TSIPSTIS has plenty of well-endowed TIGER KITTENS on hand, who dance in the Glass Tiger Cage and act as purveyors of intoxicants. . . . Those nude movies from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. at the MOULIN ROUGE are drawing good crowds. . . . Every Monday is jazz night at the NU BEAT in Redwood City. Currently headlining are "THE FRATICS." Recent guests to the steak emporium include pro footballers John Brodie and Paul Hornung, and sportscaster Lon Simmons (but where was Russ Hodges?). . . . That fiery exponent of fast Spanish dancing, Juan Jose, at Finocchio's, seems to make sparks fly in the newest of his original dances in the "Funtime Circus" revue. Very seldom has a dancer been seen hereabout as energetic as he.

Caravan Inn Visit By "Omar" Means ??

Omar, the romantic poet who rhapsodizes about "a loaf of bread, a jug of wine and thou," would probably sing the praises of the new menu selection in the intimate Jug of Wine restaurant of the Caravan Inn in Mountain View. Tasty offerings include Tournefos of Beef Rossini, Breast of Chicken Caravan, Crepes Madras (crabmeat, lobster and shrimp blended with cheddar, wines and herbs and topped with Sauce Nautilus) and Emince of Beef Stroganoff. Of course, the Armenian favorite, Shish Kebab, is available too.

The Plymouth Rockers, Valiant Record stars, ("Roll Over Stephen Foster," and "Girl of the North Country"), are currently appearing at the Whisky A-Go-Go in San Francisco. Outstanding vocalists, instrumentalists, and singers, The Plymouth Rockers have as much fun on the stand as the viewing customers.

Sunday is Teen-Age Day from 5 p.m. Each Sunday, special prizes are awarded to the best dancers. This Sunday, Feb. 6, a stereo record changer, which fits into an automobile, will be awarded. Every Monday will be Latin Night — starring the Escovido Brothers. A Sunday treat, this week: The Plymouth Rockers will play for Teen-Age Day.

STUDYING THE BLUE PRINTS—Victor Scafani and John Granziano, sans their usual high fashioned suits, gave the blue prints for their new Woodlake Joe's restaurant in San Mateo, the final okay. These two gents, who have scheduled the opening of Woodlake Joe's for Wednesday, Feb. 9, are no strangers to the restaurant business—they are co-owners of the highly successful Brentwood Lodge of South San Francisco.

IN THREE CITIES

Political Hopefuls Still Filing Papers

Candidates in three North County cities who are battling for eight city council seats were still taking out papers for nomination yesterday and had just begun filing for election.

The candidates have until February 17 to file their papers. Veterans Councilman Edward J. Dennis became the first candidate to file for election in this year's Daly City campaign.

Dennis led the city's ticket when he last ran for re-election. He has served 16 years on the council and is that legislative body's senior member.

In addition to Dennis' seat, two other seats also will be up for election. They are held by Councilmen Michael DeBernardi and Bernard Lycett.

Both have taken out nomination papers.

Others who have taken out papers are Robert D. Sherwood of 128 St. Francis Boulevard, a newcomer to the city's political scene, and Del C. Wilson of 206 Alta Loma Avenue, an unsuccessful council candidate in 1958, and Eugene Vinje of 532 Niantic Avenue.

In Pacifica only one candidate had filed his election papers: William Hart of 1136 Manzanita Drive.

Fred Ballew and Harlan Minshew, both incumbents, and Nick Gust of Hewitt Avenue and Frank Wright of 1335 Grand Avenue have all taken out nomination papers but had not filed.

In South San Francisco, where two seats are being contested, three candidates had filed papers as of yesterday morning: Incumbent Andrew Rocca; and Young Han Choo of 351 Francisco, and Warren Steinkamp of 51 Capay Circle.

Incumbent Patrick Ahern, Louis Belloni of 745 Miller Avenue, and James Petty of 330 Newman Drive, have all taken out papers but had not filed.

JOSEPH P. LUCASON

Airman Third Class Joseph P. Lucason, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver H. Muir of 936 Crespi Drive, Pacifica, has been graduated at Amarillo AFB, Texas, from the training course for U.S. Air Force supply inventory specialists. A graduate of Terra Nova High School, he is being reassigned to Lowry AFB, Colo., for duty with the Air Training Command.

Laundrette Owners Get Rules Break

North County laundrette operators and the North County Sanitation District will both get a break under new rules adopted Monday by the district's board of directors.

In the past, the district has based its charges to laundrettes on a formula somewhat more complicated than the instructions one finds on the average coin-operated washing machine.

Now laundrette owners will pay the same rate as homeowners, plus a flat fee for sewage in excess of 10,500 gallons a month... the amount of waste dumped into the system by the average home.

Engineer-manager Robert Berniuchi of the sanitation district said the new method of computing charges will result in lower rates for laundrettes as well as reduced administrative costs for the district.

In other action the directors discussed the district's ocean outfall line, recently inspected and pronounced in very good condition by divers. The board voted to institute a cleaning program to remove storm debris every two years.

The directors also called for bids on a new gravity-fed sewer system at Fernando Rivera School in Daly City. The pipeline would eliminate a troublesome pumping station.

Also included in the bid specifications is a new sewer line to serve the district's treatment plant on Lake Merced Boulevard.

Daytime temperatures in Riyadh, the capital of Saudi Arabia, rise as high as 113 degrees and may fall no lower than 90 degrees at night. Families often sleep on the roofs of their mud-brick houses to escape the heat.

'LITTLE RED BUS'

Merchants Will Mull Aid Query

Pacific merchants will be asked about the possibility of alleviating financial difficulties of the "Little Red Bus" service, the El Mar Transit Company.

Bernard Lake, manager of the Pacifica Chamber of Commerce, was asked by the city council following a study session last week to bring back some answer to whether they would help El Mar Transit.

Lake said that he will try and determine if merchants would be interested in purchasing tickets on some basis for customers who use the "Little Red Bus."

The city indicated at its study session that it might be willing to pick up any additional deficit.

John Cushing, operator of the bus service, had requested $400 from the city monthly in order to enlarge and improve the service. He stated at the meeting that he is not asking for a subsidy.

He described how at present he is operating without any bus shelters and with a broken service in the afternoon because one bus is needed to carry school children.

He said that he felt business would increase once there was a complete schedule and people "become conditioned to the fact that a bus service is here."

A number of letters from residents were read at the meeting, praising the new local bus service and asking for the operation of a complete, rather than an interrupted, schedule.

Lynch Plea To Be Heard February 15

A motion to reinstate Alfred R. Lynch in his Pacifica teaching job was filed last week and a court hearing has been scheduled for February 15.

Lynch has been off the payroll in the Laguna Salada School District since January 20 following revocation of his county teaching certificate by the County Board of Education for unprofessional conduct.

Lynch's lawyer, Clarence Knight, who filed the motion yesterday, declared that the revocation of a county certificate is not grounds for firing a teacher.

"Having a certificate is a requirement for hiring," Knight said, "but there is no provision in the law for firing a teacher on this basis."

Knight said the Education Code lists reasons for dismissal and noted that revocation of a certificate is not one of them.

Warehouse Step Okayed By District

After a spirited debate that ranged deep into the red tape of state school financing, trustees of the Jefferson Elementary School District Monday night approved the first step toward building a new district warehouse.

The district presently uses the old Thornton School plant for its warehouse but the state wants the district to abandon the site.

The school was abandoned several years ago because it no longer met state safety specifications. However, it was considered adequate to use as a warehouse.

Trustees, in a 3-1 vote, authorized the district administration to "encumber" $200,000 of old bond moneys to be used for building a warehouse.

This must be done, explained Roger Barthol, assistant superintendent for business administration, so that the district's regular school-building program will not be adversely affected.

As long as the district continues to use the Thornton site, the site will be "counted against" the district's state aid capacity to build new schools and additions, he said.

Board Chairman Thomas Noonan pointed out that encumbering the $200,000 does not mean the district will go ahead and build a new warehouse.

Trustee George Perry, who voted against the bond authorization, said not enough information had been supplied by the administration on the warehouse proposal.

"It occurs to me," he declared, "that there are substantial alternatives."

The administration has suggested that a warehouse be built on its site at 101 Lincoln Boulevard.

Trustee Peter Galiano reported that he had received a number of phone calls from persons asking whether the warehouse would be built by funds provided under a new bond issue passed by district residents last month.

Noonan said the warehouse had "nothing to do" with the bond issue and noted that the state had been pressing the dis-

New Room Suggested

A need for more space for meetings and activities will require the use of another room at Oddstad Center in Pacifica, Pacifica officials believe.

Park, Beach and Recreation Department officials have asked the City Council to have Civil Defense authorities relinquish use of a room at Oddstad where CD has been storing first aid equipment for three years.

In other business at last Wednesday's meeting, the PB&R requested the Little League to "clean up" White Field preparatory to its use for baseball games.

The Little League Women's Auxiliary has been asked to attend the PB&R's next meeting, to discuss operation of refreshment booths at White Field and Terra Nova baseball field.

Halling, who has an existing home on his property, contended that he was unable to acquire land from either adjoining property owner.

Letters from eight nearby property owners had expressed no opposition to the granting of a variance for Halling.

Residents from San Pedro, however, who attended Monday night's meeting, strongly expressed their disapproval of Halling's request.

In other business, the planning commission: Continued to the February 21 meeting the application of Nick Gust for construction of a 12-unit motel in Rockaway Beach.

"A more workable parking arrangement" was recommended by administrator Supinger.

Granted unanimously an use permit to the Parish of Good Shepherd for construction of the first increment of a parochial school. The site adjoins the church property north of Oceana High School in Sharp Park.

Pacifica Panel Nixes Small Lot Frontage

A zoning variance application in San Pedro Terrace has been unanimously denied by Pacifica's planning commission.

Jim Supinger, planning administrator, stated at Monday night's meeting that he felt the trend towards larger lots in the area should be encouraged. He said the application of Charles Halling of Kent Road would allow a single family dwelling on a lot with less than 5,000 square feet in area. The non-conforming building site has a 37 1/2-foot frontage on Kent Road.

Halling, who has an existing home on his property, contended that he was unable to acquire land from either adjoining property owner.

Letters from eight nearby property owners had expressed no opposition to the granting of a variance for Halling.

Residents from San Pedro, however, who attended Monday night's meeting, strongly expressed their disapproval of Halling's request.

In other business, the planning commission: Continued to the February 21 meeting the application of Nick Gust for construction of a 12-unit motel in Rockaway Beach.
